Nader Launches Attack On Nixon Consumer Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has charged President Nixon's proposed consumer protection legislation is "far from perfect in part and deceptive in the remainder."

Nader launched his attack Thursday by releasing drafts of two administration bills and the text of a letter he was sending to Mrs. Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's special assistant on consumer affairs.

Mrs. Knauer could not be reached for immediate comment.

The letter declared a bill giving statutory standing to the existing White House Consumer Office "adds little to what the office can do presently."

Nader also condemned a proposal in the bill to include representatives of business on a 20-member consumer advisory council to be appointed by the President.

"Do you know of any consumer representatives on any of the dozens of industry advisory committees that are attached to various government agencies?" Nader asked, and then answered: "There are none."

He said in his letter industries obviously would be happy to "advise and assist your office. The tenor of this entire bill suggests a relationship to the consumer movement similar to company unions vis-a-vis the labor movement a few decades ago."

Nader said it would be wrong to establish a Consumer Protection Division within the Justice Department as the President proposes because the department already represents agencies the new division is supposed to monitor.

He said a second bill, the Consumer Product Testing Act of 1969, "is a step backwards and a serious one at that." Nader contended the measure is vague and gives industrial and commercial standards groups exactly what they wanted.

"This bill would lead to quasi-official status for private standards groups, an undermining of the policy of governmental standards arrived at independently for public health, safety and credibility," he said.

As a postscript, Nader said the administration had consulted with trade groups in drawing up its proposed legislation but had failed to communicate with consumer groups.

Start Countdown For Apollo 12's Moon Mission

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Electrical power surged into a giant Saturn 5 rocket today as the launch team began the week-long countdown for Apollo 12, man's second moon-landing mission.

The countdown clock started right on schedule at noon EST, 167 hours 38 minutes from scheduled liftoff at 11:22 a.m. next Friday.

As the countdown started, launch director Walter Kapryan reported all launch preparations were proceeding smoothly.

The three astronauts, Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean, planned several hours today in command ship and lunar lander simulators, rehearsing key steps in the 10-day flight.

Also on their schedule was a briefing on lunar topography. Conrad, Gordon and Bean first climb into the command ship trainer to practice procedures for the rocket burn that will propel them out of earth orbit and onto the quarter-million-mile trans-lunar trail.

That ignition occurs over the Pacific Ocean after the astronauts have circled the globe one and a half times to make certain the spaceship's systems are working.

Later, Conrad and Bean are to enter the landing simulator to practice descent to the moon and liftoff for return to the orbiting command craft.

They are to land on the moon's Ocean of Storms early Nov. 19 for a 31½ hour stay. They are to make two excursions outside totaling seven hours to carry out the first detailed exploration of the lunar surface.

Assembly-Line Housing Set By New Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three labor unions have agreed to build low-cost, prefabricated homes on an assembly line basis under a contract the government says provides a major start in overcoming the nation's housing shortage.

A three-bedroom house with one bath and all utilities would cost well under $10,000 according to a top official of the company that signed a contract with three building-trades unions Thursday to mass produce the structures.

George Romney, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, hailed the contract as a significant start in reaching former President Lyndon B. Johnson's goal of 26 million new housing units in the next decade.

Romney's department Thursday also said another program aimed at both creating new housing and aiding the nation's poor was working.

Some 16,500 families with average annual incomes of $5,600 own homes thanks to the program and the number is expected to triple by next June 30, HUD officials reported.

The pre-fabricated home contract calls for carpenters, plumbers and electrical workers to join in eventually producing 2,500 homes a year for Prestige Structures, Inc., of Charlotte, Mich.

Thursday's agreement marked a reversal in what has been opposition by the unions to mass-produced housing. Increasing popularity of mobile homes is considered one factor in the unions' reversal.

HUD has guaranteed to finance purchases of Prestige Homes, under the agreement.

Man Bestows $100 Bills On Strangers

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — He's dark haired, in his 20s, probably bearded and driving a silver-green Pontiac. He gives away $100 bills.

Nobody knows why, except maybe the Indian, if he is an Indian, and he isn't telling.

It's a complete mystery to a college professor, a retired farmer, a service station attendant and a teen-age girl who got the bills.

"It's really weird," John Tackett, editor of the Stephenville Daily Empire, said Thursday. "We call him the Phantom Philanthropist."

He said residents of the Stephenville area, southwest of Fort Worth, still are "buzzing" with excitement over the possibility he may return and unload a $100 bill on them.

The mystery gifts were bestowed on four persons Sunday but the story only came to light after the recipients visited banks to check the legitimacy of the bills.

Larry Newlin, who pumps gas at a station in nearby De Leon, apparently was the first to catch the mystery man in his bountiful mood.

Newlin said the man gave him a $100 bill to pay for $6 worth of gas and told him: "You lucky boy, go ahead and keep the change."

BABY IS GAINING 80-100 POUNDS A MONTH — Pilar, the 15-month-old Indian elephant at the Los Angeles Zoo, gives the photographer a wary eye as she guzzles a bottle of milk. She has gained 513 pounds this year, and is gaining at a rate of 80-100 pounds each month.

U.S. Military Men Satisfied With Vietnamization Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four of South Vietnam's 10 regular army divisions have reached reasonably acceptable combat shape, according to U.S. military sources.

These officers said just a year ago only one ARVN division could be rated as at least good.

They now rank the remaining six South Vietnamese divisions from marginal to poor.

U.S. authorities concede the South Vietnamese army has not yet been battle tested on a wide scale since the Nixon administration ordered a speed-up in the "Vietnamization" of the war.

The aim of that program is to prepare the South Vietnamese forces to replace U.S. ground combat units as soon as possible, so Americans may be withdrawn gradually.

"The ARVN is going to lose some battles, there are problems and there are some bad units, but the South Vietnamese are doing better," one civilian official said.

Last Monday, President Nixon reported progress in training the South Vietnamese forces has been greater than anticipated and that, as a result, the U.S. withdrawal timetable "is more optimistic now than when we made our first estimates in June."

American military sources said the South Vietnamese 1st division in the Northern I Corps and the 7th, 9th and 21st divisions in the Mekong River Delta are at least reasonably acceptable.

The U.S. officers who discussed current evaluations gave high marks to the South Vietnamese airborne troops and referred to 14 armored cavalry squadrons as "a real success story."

The armored cavalry, using M48 tanks and personnel carriers, have been conducting road security operations and serving as a battle reserve, these officers said.

Other Probable Candidates Undaunted By Rhodes Move

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Probable candidates were sounding more like candidates than Gov. James A. Rhodes after he announced his U.S. Senate aspirations Thursday.

Rhodes announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination in a terse printed statement, and then refused to discuss the matter with newsmen.

Shortly after Rhodes entered the race, Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, said the governor's announcement "does not eliminate the Senate race from my thinking."

And Rep. Donald E. Lukens, Middletown Republican, said Rhodes' candidacy did not alter his "serious consideration" of making a bid for the GOP nomination.

On the Democratic side, former astronaut John Glenn said a lack of funds was the only thing stopping him from entering the Senate contest. He said Rhodes' entry had no bearing on his plans.

The candidacy of Howard Metzbaum, Cleveland millionaire, got a boost from Franklin County Democratic Chairman George Twyford, who said he felt Metzbaum was the best candidate the Democrats could offer.

Meanwhile, Ohio Democratic Chairman Eugene P. O'Grady said Life magazine allegations against Rhodes will be a major campaign issue. "Perhaps now the people of Ohio will have a chance to learn the real facts," he said.

State Republican Chairman John S. Andrews Thursday welcomed Rhodes' entry into the race.

"He has been widely acclaimed as a hard working governor who has compiled an outstanding record," Andrews said. "His knowledge and experience in dealing with problems of the state of Ohio will provide a unique background for service at the national level."

6 Ohioans Are Victims Of Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The names of at least six more Ohioans have been added to the state's traffic death toll in the past 24 hours.

The dead:
OXFORD — James Stamper, 29, of Oxford, was killed late Thursday in a single car accident on Ohio 129 near Millville in Butler County.

CANTON — Antoinette Strand, 68, of Cleveland, was killed Thursday afternoon in the collision of two automobiles at the intersection of State Street and Ohio 43 about four miles north of Canton.

AKRON — William Jenkins, 22, of Akron, was killed in an auto collision late Thursday on Akron's North Side.

AKRON — Charles R. Carden, 80, of Akron, was hurt fatally Thursday when his car was hit by a truck at an Akron intersection.

BATAVIA — Mike Berwanger, 21, of Amelia, Clermont County, was killed Thursday night when his auto ran into a utility pole on a county road.

GREENVILLE — Elizabeth Loxley, 83, of Greenville, was killed Thursday in a two-car crash near Ohio 242 at the intersection of two Darke County roads.

Eisenhower Estate Listed At $278,363

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A partial inventory of Dwight D. Eisenhower's estate has listed assets valued at $278,363, consisting mainly of stock investments and 243 head of cattle.

The inventory filed in Adams County Court did not include an appraisal of royalties from the late president's books, a 5 percent interest in six Louisiana wells and a one-eighth interest in a tract of land in Jefferson County, Colo.

Believe Reds Are Opening New Campaign

SAIGON (AP) — An estimated 100 Viet Cong guerrillas assaulted government outposts defending Saigon early today for the first time in 18 months, while other enemy forces made 68 rocket and mortar attacks across the country.

The shelling was the heaviest in more than two months. The South Vietnamese military commander for Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces said the sharply stepped up attacks marked the beginning of the enemy's winter campaign. His American counterpart said, "I don't think he's going to get very far with it."

Most of the attacks were in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon or in the central highlands. Casualties included two Americans killed, six wounded, three Vietnamese civilians killed and 20 civilians and 18 soldiers wounded.

Viet Cong guerrillas attacked two outposts manned by South Vietnamese combat police on the southern fringe of Saigon with AK47 rifles and hand-fired rockets shortly after midnight. The posts are about a mile apart.

There apparently was no attempt to infiltrate into the city, as earlier reports had indicated; instead the mission was to destroy the outposts, and it did not succeed, although the posts (Continued on Page 2)

School Principal Enters Plea In Shooting Case

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Charles Osborne, the junior high school principal charged with shooting with intent to wound a Lithopolis youth, entered an innocent plea in Municipal Court today.

The 55-year-old Osborne, principal of nearby Carroll Junior High, waived preliminary hearing and was bound to the grand jury. His $1,000 bond was continued.

Osborne is accused of wounding 20-year-old Michael Rutherford during the Halloween season. The youth was treated at a hospital for a wound in the lower back.

Osborne is accused of firing the shot after someone set off a firecracker in front of his home in Lithopolis. Rutherford denied setting off any firecrackers, and told authorities he and some companions were getting some corn from a nearby field.

Spending Foes Eye Next Move

Plan New Drive On Defense Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate defense costs critics are plotting new drives to cut arms spending, including curbing the Safeguard antimissile system, despite their largely unsuccessful efforts with the $20.7 billion military procurement authorization bill.

Leaders of the bipartisan coalition opposing the administration's missile defense proposal began laying their latest plans even before Thursday's 58-9 Senate vote sent the compromise procurement bill to the White House.

Their new target is the $70 billion-plus defense appropriations measure scheduled for consideration next month.

But the efforts to amend the money bill by limiting Safeguard funds to research could be hampered by pressures to end the year-long congressional session and adjourn for the Christmas holidays.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., announced the plans to make new assaults not only on the Safeguard but on other items in the appropriations measure.

President Nixon is expected to sign within the next few days the authorization measure that drew some criticism during a three-hour final debate Thursday. The House approved it in just a few minutes by voice vote Wednesday.

While this will clear the way for consideration of appropriations legislation, Pentagon backers in the House appear to have set up a schedule that will make it difficult for Proxmire and the anti-Safeguard forces to mount a major fight.

Body And Boat From Ship Found

BOSTON (AP) — An unidentified body and an empty motor life boat with the name "Keo" on it were recovered Thursday night about 40 miles southeast of the area where the 629-foot Liberian tanker Keo broke apart Wednesday in a storm and its 36 men were stranded on the stern.

A Coast Guard spokesman said this morning the body was recovered by the USS Fox during an intensive search of 20,000 miles of ocean off Nantucket.

Government Stands Behind Decision Against Viet March

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials who refused to issue a permit for a mass march to protest the Vietnam war admit they have not read a report contending a similar rejection helped trigger violence during the 1968 Democratic convention.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said again Thursday the government would not allow a march of thousands along Pennsylvania Avenue and around the White House Nov. 15 because of "a substantial likelihood of serious violence."

Mayor Richard J. Daley also raised the specter of potential violence to bar a march during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last year.

Parents Visit Skyjacker

ROME (AP) — Raphael Minichiello was reunited with his family today in the Rome jail where he has been held since he hijacked a jetliner from California to Rome last weekend.

Minichiello was visited by his 76-year-old father Luigi, who lives in a village near Naples, and by his mother Maria and sister Annamaria, who flew to Italy Thursday from the United States.

Marvin Mitchelson, a Beverly Hills, Calif., lawyer who accompanied the two women from their home in Seattle, Wash., did not see Raphael, a 20-year-old U.S. Marine against whom authorities have placed seven charges.

The Minichiellos drove to the Queen of Heaven jail after a 40-minute talk with an assistant prosecutor, Massimo Carli, who granted permission for the visit. The parents said they spoke to him about their son's personality.

Carli said he expected to turn the case over to an investigating magistrate today or Saturday. The magistrate will decide whether to send the case to trial or drop the charges, which include kidnapping and introducing military weapons into Italy. He also will decide whether Minichiello should undergo psychiatric tests.

But some "pro-violence groups," he said, "are seeking to infiltrate the mass march." He identified only the militant Weatherman section of the Students for a Democratic Society.

New Mob spokesmen, meanwhile, disputed Kleindienst's predictions of violence, claiming the charge was made to frighten would-be participants.

Economics May Force Russia Nearer U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny talked tough to the United States in his Bolshevik anniversary speech, but the impression remains that some influential men in the Kremlin want to ease Soviet-American tensions. One big reason could be the Soviet economy.

Moscow's press has provided evidence that a middle-of-the-road element in the leadership is seeking to concentrate more energy and resources on domestic welfare and that this is causing some political difficulty. The regime is pressured on the one hand by a hungry military-industrial complex and on the other by impatient reformers and the rising demands of Soviet consumers. If it is going to turn to internal problems effectively, the Kremlin must satisfy the military that there is no major threat to the security of the Soviet Union and the Communist bloc.

Seemingly to reflect such pressure, Podgorny said Thursday that the talks on strategic arms limitation opening this month come at a time of urgent need for steps to end the momentum of the arms race.

"Huge resources spent on the arms drive could be transferred to peaceful means for increasing the welfare of the people of the world," he said.

Those expenditures also could place the Soviet Union in a better position for eventual competition on political and economic grounds with Americans around the world, rather than on a path of dangerous military competition. As of now, economic problems stand in the way of such a course.

Podgorny gave figures suggesting rising production in some fields, but also showing the gap between the Soviet and U.S. economies.

Podgorny gave no specifics for agriculture or consumer production. He said farm production, despite unfavorable weather, was "not bad," and probably better than the 1961-65 annual levels. In those years in some cases production was so poor that Moscow had to turn to Canada and elsewhere for grain. Press comments on this year's outlook have been pessimistic.

Last month the Soviet press said nearly 36,000 industrial enterprises now operate on the "new system" begun in January 1966, and from these enterprises came 91 percent of this year's "profits." The "new system" is a timid reform involving more local managerial discretion, in-

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved the Nixon administration's plan for vast expansion of the nation's air system over the next 10 years, with airline passengers and other users footing much of the bill.
The program calls for 800 new airports of varying sizes and $12 billion worth of radar, automatic landing equipment and other navigational facilities.
The bill would create a commission to map future air expansion and calls for $2.5 billion in federal matching grants for airport construction and $2.5 billion for new navigational aids.
Higher fees for tickets, freight and fuel would finance much of the rest of the program, in the House bill. The Senate is expected to consider an airport expansion bill next week.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved and sent to the Senate a $3.7 billion authorization bill for space expenditures in the year ending next June 30.

The bulk of the funds in the bill would be used for the Apollo man-to-the-moon program and is designed to help finance three manned moon shots in the next nine months.

The amount approved Thursday was equal to that requested by President Nixon for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has broken down by zip code areas information on the nation's taxpayers, and said the statistical data, without names, is available on computer tapes to both public and private users.

In its Thursday announcement the IRS said information on the number of taxpayers—joint and single—the number of dependents and the number of incomes in various brackets is available for all 34,000 zip code areas. The information breakdown is designed, the IRS said, to assist federal agencies and state and local governments plan for their various projects and programs.

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., and others have called the practice an invasion of privacy.

Stock List On Upside
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, paced by the computer issues, continued to climb in moderate trading this afternoon as advances bettered their lead over declines by 300 issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average spurred to 860.22, up 5.02, at noon.
Several analysts saw a statement Thursday by a noted economist, Milton Friedman, as fueling the market. Friedman said the "peak of interest rates may well have been past or could come next month." The prediction, if true, would mean an easing of credit, an incentive for investor buying.

"Mr. Friedman always has been a bellwether economist in the nation," Eldon Grimm, senior vice president of Walston & Co., commented.

Fourteen of the New York Stock Exchange's 20 most-active issues advanced in midday trading, 5 declined, and 1 was unchanged.

Fourteen of the American Stock Exchange's 20 most active issues were ahead, 4 declined, and 2 unchanged.

Christmas Day Switch
LONDON (AP) — The British Government has turned down a suggestion made in Parliament that Christmas should always be celebrated on the same day each year — the last Sunday in December. Sponsors said this would avoid industrial disruption when Dec. 25 falls in mid-week, but the government ruled that most people prefer to keep to the traditional date.

CONSERVATION — A certificate of merit award given for good conservation practices and sponsored by Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. was presented to Robert Cole (center) of Cole Nursery Wednesday. Making the presentation is David McDonald, owner of Mac's Goodyear, while Don Archer, district conservationist, looks on.

Conservation Award Given To Nursery

Cole Nursery has been awarded the Certificate of Merit presented by Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company for outstanding accomplishments in Soil Conservation in Pickaway County.

The presentation of the award was made at the annual Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District meeting Wednesday by David McDonald, owner of Mac's Goodyear. Robert Cole accepted it for the nursery.

The award is presented to encourage good conservation practices. "Although only one plaque is presented, there is no loser in this contest," McDonald stated. "Everyone benefits from the good conservation practices."

Cole Nursery has operated in Pickaway County since 1956. There are 800 acres in the nursery and it has been a cooperating member of the Soil and Water Conservation district since coming to the county.

Among the practices for which it won the award are: open drainage, surface drainage and sub-surface drainage programs, waterways, diversions, erosion control structures and grassy areas maintained which conserve wildlife as well as the soil.

Two Juvenile Boys Caught Shoplifting

The shoplifting of two radios at the Ashville Cardinal Food Market was cleared up with the arrest of two juvenile boys.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff picked up the boys at school and recovered one of the radios. They expect to get the other radio at the boys home.

The juveniles were taken to Pickaway County jail and will be charged with petty larceny. The radios were valued at $30 each.

One South Vietnamese combat policeman was killed and seven were wounded. The bodies of three barefoot guerrillas dressed in black pajamas were found alongside one of the posts. Five assault rifles and one rocket launcher were found nearby.

It appeared the Viet Cong were local force guerrillas who live in the swamps on the southern edges of the city. The attack was typical of the Viet Cong guerrilla warfare during the early 1960s.

Government forces made no apparent attempt to pursue the guerrillas, but outposts were reinforced.

Meanwhile, about 150 North Vietnamese soldiers attacked a South Vietnamese militia outpost 30 miles northwest of Saigon and six miles from the Cambodian border early today. Headquarters said 84 enemy soldiers were killed, 50 of them by American helicopter gunships and artillery, while South Vietnamese casualties were one killed and nine wounded.

JCs Induct New Member

JAMES LECKRONE

The Circleville Jaycees inducted a new member during a dinner meeting held at Wardell Party Home Thursday.

He is James Leckrone, assistant to the finance director of the state of Ohio. Leckrone, his wife, Laura and children, Debbie and Jay, live in Washington Twp.

The guest speaker for the evening was Fred Kegelmeyer, national director from region 5, who spoke in the honor of being a Jaycee, obtaining new Jaycee members and also world affairs.

The resignation of Mike Alkire as secretary was accepted and Phil VanMeter was elected to the vacant position. VanMeter brought a guest to the meeting, Paul Semanari.

Several topics were discussed during the meeting, including a report on the Halloween Parade, which was held Oct. 30 and the upcoming Santa Parade, which is sponsored every year by the Jaycees. This year the parade chairman is Archie Ward and the parade will be held Nov. 28 at 2 p.m.

The Christmas tree sale was discussed but no definite date has been set for the project which is a money making project each year for the Jaycees.

The Christmas party will be held this year at the Pickaway Country Club Dec. 20, with Jake Bailey taking reservations.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Take Orders From Boss' Wife

DEAR ABBY: I am secretary to the owner of a small but successful business and have been for some time. I handle all the bills.

Recently my boss' wife called and asked me to send the office telephone bill home. She said her husband had unjustly accused her of making several costly long distance calls from the office and she wanted the bill to prove that she had not. Naturally I sent the bill to her.

Here's the hitch. My boss has had a girl friend for several years. She lives out of town and I know that he makes many long distance calls to her. (He doesn't know that I know about her.) I don't know if his wife suspects anything. She is a lovely woman. (His wife.)

Well, today my boss said, "If my wife asks for the phone bills again, please don't give them to her!" No further explanation.

What am I supposed to do now? I can't ignore the wife's requests. And I can't tell her that her husband doesn't want me to send the phone bills to her. I am VERY TRULY YOURS,

IN A QUANDARY
DEAR IN: You are working for HIM—not HER. And no secretary who is as sharp as you appear could be so naive as to send the office telephone bill home to the boss' wife without first consulting the boss. It's almost as though you wanted his lovely wife to catch him in something. Don't take orders from anyone but your boss again, or for Christmas you're apt to get your walking papers.

DEAR ABBY: What ever happened to all those nice thoughtful ladies who used to offer their mailmen a glass of ice-cold lemonade in the summer, and a cup of hot steaming chocolate in the winter?

Even a glass of ice WATER would be nice, and it surely wouldn't break up anyone's budget. Would it now?

Senate Group Seeks Facts On Timetable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will seek elaboration from top Nixon administration officials on the timetable of U.S. withdrawals from Vietnam and the postwar political arrangements.

These are the two chief areas to be explored, sources report, when the committee meets in closed session the week of Nov. 17 with Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., announced Wednesday the committee had decided to launch its broad review of the Vietnam situation with the two closed sessions, rather than with nationally televised public hearings that would offer a forum for war opponents.

"We thought it was more appropriate to have executive sessions to begin with," Fulbright told reporters. "This does not exclude public sessions later."

Fulbright, who earlier had sternly criticized Nixon's Monday night speech on Vietnam, appeared to be having second thoughts on Wednesday.

"All we want to do is try to be helpful and not make things more difficult," Fulbright said.

3 Doesn't make much sense, does it?

DEAR ABBY: When will we learn the lessons of human behavior that abound in so much of Greek and Roman literature? The ancients were well aware of seduction, and the Bible treats it extensively. We on the other hand, pretend that sexual responses can only happen when and where they're ideally supposed to. All the while, police blotters and hospitals and institutional admissions reflect more than half of our crimes stem from wrongful passions and uncontrolled lust.

Seduction is seduction, and any sexually-clad female had better believe that all men into whose view she comes can be affected by her "teasing" attire as well as the ONE man she may be seductively dressed for.

Also, please know that it is because a man is NORMAL that he is aroused, and not because the female displaying a lot of thigh or cleavage is built like VENUS. She could be built like half a cord of firewood and still arouse his basic instincts. Unfortunately rape or the sex act are not always a man's responses to sexual provocations. A man exposed to the office full of sexually dressed women can go home and beat his fat, dumpy wife senseless as a way of relieving the tension he's been under all day.

Every woman who dresses to show too much of herself knows that she is teasing. And this goes for someone's 15-year-old daughter, or his 60-year-old grandmother.

History That Missed

Nov. 7 is not usually observed as a pretentious day in American history. No great event occurred on that day — that is, great in relation to its time in history. But something occurred more than 100 years ago which came near to changing the entire course of the Civil War and possibly the line of presidential succession at the end of the war.

It was in Belmont, Mo., on Nov. 7, 1861, that Brig. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant fought his first battle of the war and failed miserably. His forces captured the Confederate camp at Belmont, but then turned to looting the town. Taking advantage of the diversion of the un-disciplined Union forces, the Confederates reformed and sent Grant and his men fleeing from the vicinity by boat under heavy fire.

This failure may have been a prime reason for President Lincoln overlooking Gen. Grant as the badly needed commander of Union forces until late in the war. It was an incident of the type which normally could have cost Grant his command.

It might have become an incident to change the course of war, for this was the type of military reverse from which most generals do not again rise in the esteem of their superiors.

Self-Interest And Priority

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Whenever I hear anyone say that human beings should do things for "the common good," I mark him down as kind-hearted but soft-headed, even as I used to be in the days before I became an industrial reporter for a business magazine. People, as one quickly learns by watching them at work, aren't motivated to do things for high-sounding abstractions. The way to get them moving toward good social ends is to lure them into doing something for humanity as a by-product of pursuing their own self-interest.

Subsidizing people to fall in line with a national priority doesn't quite work the trick. A subsidy is soon accepted as a right, the assumption being that the politician who granted it in the first place will surely renew it before standing for re-election. Subsidies breed inefficiency, or the misallocation of effort. We have tried to subsidize farmers to reduce crops, but the money has had the opposite effect (the farmers spend their acre-reduction money to buy better seeds, better fertilizer, and better machinery, which only added to the problem of over-production). Subsidized housing hasn't worked any better; the subsidized community soon becomes the slum of the future, for there is no incentive to cherish it and keep it up.

On the other hand, a tax incentive always works for the simple reason that self-interest is an unfailing motor. Jaye Dyer, executive vice president of the Apache Corporation of Minneapolis, has seen it pay off in the oil and gas discoveries made by appealing to the self-interest of individuals who have taken advantage of the oil depletion allowance. As long as we wanted more oil, this was the way to get it.

Mr. Dyer is a canny man. He wouldn't let me pump him on the subject of his own extractive industry specialty. Evidently he thought it would be counter-productive if, as an oil man, he tried to make the case for tax incentives in his own business.

What he did want to talk about was harnessing tax incentives to the solution of what Pat Moynihan's Urban Affairs crew in the White House calls the "environmental problem." Mr. Dyer notes that the middle classes have ceased to be home renters and have become home owners largely because they have the incentive of an income tax interest deduction on mortgage payments to stimulate them. But the lower income groups, who lack the capital to make down payments on homes even under the most favorable circumstances, can't take advantage of the interest deduction incentive. (Maybe they don't pay taxes anyway).

Accelerated depreciation for low-cost housing as provided in the House version of the tax reform bill, is a step in the right direction, but it isn't enough to galvanize a builder into action. What is needed is a high-powered lure to get builders to make the "environmental problem" their own.

How would it be done? The Dyer proposals, as submitted for the consideration of Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney, include:

1. The investment credit provision which has stimulated industrial expansion should be applied to all housing projects for low-income families.
2. Land for low-income housing should be depreciated on an annual basis for tax purposes.
3. Some of the income from rent should be made exempt from taxes. This would move capital from the home-purchase field into the now moribund business of building for renters.
4. Mortgage money could be obtained on more favorable terms if interest on loans for low-cost housing were tax free.
5. The twenty per cent first year's write-off, which now applies to other fields, could be adapted to housing problem for the consideration of Housing areas.

The virtue of taking the incentive approach to the end of encouraging builders to lick the "environmental problem" is that it would enlist human selfishness in the cause of a high national priority. The same sort of tack could be taken in the fight on air and water pollution. For example, if General Motors were given a tax break on every proven smog-killing exhaust system sold with a GM car, some new Boss Kettering would come up with a successful anti-smog device in short order.

When subsidies are offered, says Mr. Dyer, only a few government bureaucrats focus on a problem. When a tax incentive is the bait, the creative talents of thousands of profit-motivated individuals are enlisted without an argument.

Julie Andrews Special

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some television specials are drowned in production: huge sets, dozens of dancing girls and boys, a parade of stars. That won't be the case with "An Evening with Julie Andrews and Harry Belafonte."

The NBC special on Sunday night—pre-empting "Bonanza"—will feature only Julie Andrews and Harry Belafonte, with an assist from Frenchman Michel Legrand. That's all. No Busby Berkeley dance numbers. No locations in the Grand Canyon. Just three talented people doing their respective things.

That is the concept of Gower Champion, who produced, directed and choreographed the special, and Miss Andrews went along with it. She also submitted to Champion's taskmaster-ship, which is legendary in show business. After five weeks of intensive rehearsals on a bare stage at Goldwyn Studio, she underwent two full days of recording songs, then five days of taping the show in NBC's color studios at Burbank.

Does she enjoy the hard work?

"Not particularly," she admitted during a rehearsal break. "I've had most of this year off, and I must say I enjoyed it immensely. I hated going back to work. And the fact that I don't have to begin another picture until next February is keeping my spirits up."

She isn't doing the special for the money. Rights to the show will be owned by Hathaway House, a home for retarded children which is a favorite charity of hers.

Then why do a television special?

"I guess it's largely a matter of wanting to break away from the rather plastic quality of being a movie star. In films everything is so carefully done, so expertly planned. I think it's healthy to break away from that and to show that there are other aspects of your career."

"And the size of the audience you can reach through television is staggering. When I did my last special, someone pointed out that more people saw it in one evening than saw 'My Fair Lady' on the stage throughout its history."

Julie seemed refreshed by her year's vacation, during which she said her major occupation was "chauffeurizing children." Before that, she had five years of steady film making, most of them long and tedious movies, and the strain was beginning to show.

Her last film was "Darling Lili," directed by her close friend, Blake Edwards. The movie soared far over budget due to weather and other problems on European locations. But Julie feels it will be worth all the trouble. "Blake saw six reels of 'Lili' and he says it works beautifully," she remarked. "I have high hopes for it. It is handsomely filmed and funny and tuneful."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FRED ALLEN, dissecting the egomaniacal head of a film studio, observed, "He has so many yes-men following him around the plant that he has to put out his hand when he makes a sharp turn."

There's one duck hunter in Georgia who won't take another drink in a hurry before he goes on another hunting expedition. Recently he found himself sharing a blind with a club member he couldn't quite place, though he nodded hello. The member happened to be famous ventriloquist Edgar Bergen.

A covey of wild ducks flew by. Both men aimed and fired. One duck fell, and both men claimed it was their shot that had brought the very unfortunate duck down.

"There's only one way to settle this," decided Bergen. He retrieved the dead duck, propped it up on his knee and asked, "Who shot you, duck?" The duck answered, "You did, Mr. Bergen." The other hunter fell out of the blind.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I must confess that I have had a morbid fear of developing cancer of the stomach ever since my father died of this condition. Is there anyway to look into the stomach to be sure that I do not have it? I know it is strange to worry so much about it at the age of thirty but I would like to get rid of this fear once and for all.

Mr. D.E.S., New York
Dear Mr. S.: The fact that your father unfortunately had a cancer of the stomach does not make you a candidate for this condition. There is but slight possibility of a hereditary tendency. So slight is it, that it is a pathetic waste of your health and emotion to be concerned, at your age, about a condition that will in all likelihood, never occur.

Yes, there are many excellent ways to study the stomach in order to establish a diagnosis when symptoms point to it. A thin rubber tube can be passed into the stomach. Through it the gastric juices or enzymes can be suctioned out and studied by chemical analysis.

X-ray studies of the stomach can be taken after a patient swallows a barium solution in order to outline the entire stomach. Ulcers, growths and inflammations can then be detected. The speed with which the stomach empties its contents is an important clue to the normalcy of this important organ.

Another excellent instrument for looking into the stomach is known as the esophagoscope through which a portion of the stomach can be minutely inspected. A gastroscope can actually take pictures of most of the stomach for the study of the lining and to seek the possibilities of tumors.

I mention these excellent modern methods of diagnosis in order to tell you that such examinations are available even though I do not believe that they should be done in your case. Since you have no symptoms it would be extremely unwise to do all these time consuming and expensive studies without accomplishing any real purpose.

Let us suppose that these and other tests were done on you in a period of ten days and they were entirely negative and showed no evidence of any disease. Would you be satisfied and less worried? Do you think that you would be "rid of this fear once and for all?" I doubt it.

This would mean that you would seek a complete re-examination of the stomach every few weeks or every few months because of your unnecessary and unrealistic fear. Unless this fear is removed by a proper psychological understanding you will go through life being cheated of your rightful happiness by fear of a disease that you will probably never have. I have known people who, after complete examination, disbelieve their doctor and go from physician to physician without ever finding the real security they need. My suggestion, therefore, is to speak out your fears to a doctor or psychiatrist so that you can rid yourself of this gnawing anxiety.

Leisure can be hard work unless you learn how to use it correctly at an early age.

Dear Editor:

The citizens of the Circleville City School District have responded positively and courageously to a most important challenge.

The approval of the school levy is an investment in the future of our children and our community and indicates beyond any reasonable doubt that the attitudes and philosophies of this community are of the highest quality.

A continuing quality education program can be assured. The students and staff of the Circleville City Schools are deeply grateful for this support.

FRITZ F. JACOBS,
Superintendent

NEW YORK (AP) — If builders had their way the so-called equity kicker would be kicked from here to eternity. But, since inflation is a reality of this life, the kicker isn't about to be dismissed in commercial real estate deals.

"The first thing a builder says when he comes into my office," says James Houlihan, a real estate investment specialist, "is, 'Get me a loan without a kicker.' Increasingly, however, it can't be done."

A kicker means that the lender no longer is satisfied with lending money for a fixed rate of interest. He wants a piece of the action, such as partial ownership or a percentage of the gross rents.

Many builders are furious about it, feeling that it amounts almost to extortion. But lenders are equally insistent that, with inflation eroding the return on fixed investments, they cannot afford to make conventional loans.

Among the first lenders to adopt the idea were life insurance companies, a bit of irony when you consider that they above all other institutions spread the gospel of the fixed investment being the certain way to security.

Beginning several years ago they demanded part ownership of projects on which they lent money. Commercial banks, barred by law from equity holdings, have instead stressed a percentage of rents during the past year or so.

The net effect is to permit lenders to charge borrowers far in excess of the going interest rate. And the methods used are limited, said a spokesman for the National Association of Real Estate Boards, only by the imagination.

Not all bankers agree that the kicker is a good way to beat the uncertainties created by inflation. In fact, some fear that a once inviolate principle—that the lending and equity functions not be mixed—is being abused, and that stiffer regulation might ensue.

Nevertheless, the Mortgage Finance Committee of the American Banker's Association went so far as to suggest that the ABA come out in favor of banks being permitted to own real estate. The resolution was turned down.

For some banking institutions the limitation is meaningless anyway. By forming a holding company, a bank can operate a mortgage lending firm that is completely free to engage in equity financing.

The equity trend has significance for a much larger part of the population than builders, for it means that some of the nation's largest institutions are convinced that inflation will be here for a long while.

No longer do the insurers and banks have faith that the economy will be stable, and that fixed returns, such as from ordinary mortgage loans, will give them a fair return.

"None of us likes to admit it," said a well known banking official who asked that his name not be used, "but the fact is we feel inflation will be around a long time. Even if we get down from 6 per cent to 3 per cent, it won't be easy to reduce the rate from there."

What particularly irritates builders is that as they reduce the size of their mortgage loans, their payments to the bank of ten grow larger. The reason: The bank gets a share of the rents, and rents usually rise.

Many builders have made no secret of their anger and have told lenders that as soon as they get the upper hand—that is, when money becomes easier and less expensive—they'll refuse to share the action.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Experience is said to be the best teacher. But it can also be a costly and even fatal teacher. The lessons from some experiences are too expensive for us to afford.

The better part of wisdom sometimes is to avoid the experience and therefore the need of having to learn the bitter lesson. This requires the development of a sturdy ability to say no at the right time.

For example, here are a few invitations which, if accepted, generally lead only to disaster or regret:

"If the liquor is all gone, why don't we just all drive over to my place for an early breakfast?"

"This looks like it may be a short cut down the mountain. Why don't we follow it and save time?"

"When we get to the supermarket, dear, you hold a place for me in the checkout line while I pick up the items we need. I'm sure the others won't mind."

"I've never been up in a small airplane like this before. May I steer it for a while just to see what it's like?"

"Don't you think it would give it a little more flavor if you chopped up another clove or two of garlic and tossed them in?"

"If you liked those slides we took in Venice last year, how about dropping by tomorrow night and we'll show you the ones we took the year before on our visit through Arizona's deserts? We've got some closeups of a scorpion that are real corkers."

"Since you say you'd rather sit in the front of the canoe, why don't we change places right now before these rapids get any worse?"

"If you think a housewife has it so easy, why don't you stay home for a day and do my work, and I'll go to the office and do yours?"

"Just what is all this fuss about a generation gap, son? You're not one of those smart aleck kids who blame their parents for everything that's wrong with the world, are you?"

"Yes, believe it or not, at my age I've started taking dancing lessons. Shall I show you a few new steps?"

"Would you like to hear the details of my new diet?"

"Well, if you don't like the income tax return I filed, why don't you try to make a federal case out of it?"

"Is there anything else I can do to make your life happier, boss?"

Social Security Answers

Q. Can a woman get both her own social security retirement benefit and also the full wife's benefit based on her husband's work?

A. No. She gets her own retirement benefit. But if the amount of the wife's benefit based upon her husband's social security record is higher the difference is added to her retirement benefit — in effect, she gets the higher of the two benefits.

Q. What advantage is there to a working wife building up her own social security protection?

A. For one thing, she will not have to wait until her husband retires to get her benefits. She can take her retirement benefits as early as age 62 — whether or not her husband is drawing benefits at the time. Benefits to a dependent wife cannot start until the husband is on the social security benefit rolls. Another point — a woman getting her own benefit will be paid even though her husband goes back to work full or part-time. All or some of the benefits of a dependent wife may be withheld when her husband goes to work, depending on the amount of his earnings and how steadily he works. A working wife, in addition to a retirement income, is building valuable social security protection for herself and her family in the event that she becomes disabled or dies. The children of a woman worker can qualify for monthly payments if their mother should die — payments that continue at least until they are 18 and up until 22 if they remain in school and are unmarried. Disability benefits also can be paid to a woman worker and to her dependents.

These survivors and disability benefits are payable whether or not the husband and father is living in the same household and contributing to the support of the family.

Q. I will be 65 in a couple of months and I haven't yet made up my mind whether I will retire then, or go on working. If I do decide to retire, when should I get in touch with my social security office about getting benefits?

A. Whether or not you decide to retire, pay a visit to your social security office promptly — certainly before the beginning of the month in which your birthday falls. Medicare benefits are payable at 65 whether or not you are retired. But in order to have the coverage of the doctor bill insurance start as soon as you reach 65, you must sign up during one of the three months before the month of your 65th birthday.

Q. What papers do I need to take with me when I go to the social security office to apply for my social security retirement benefits?

A. Bring your social security card (or record of your number, if you do not have your card), also your last Form W-2, your income tax withholding statement. If you are self-employed, bring a copy of your most recent income tax return. In addition, you will need some evidence to prove your age. A birth or baptismal certificate, made at the time of your birth or within 5 years later is the best evidence. If neither of these is available, however, other documents can be used, generally the older, the better. If you have a question about any particular record, call your social security office.

State Lodges Manager Denies Complaints

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Conventions at state lodges are scheduled almost exclusively during the "off" season of November through February, the Legislative Public Inspection Committee was told Thursday.

Robert Hartnell, president of Ohio Inns Inc., which manages the state lodges, addressed the committee in response to complaints that convention goers were taking over the lodges.

He said the general public is given preference during the June - October period and that families make up 96 per cent of the "on" season business.

The complaints arise, he said, because of transients who eat at lodge restaurants.

In addition, the limited number of rooms causes the lodges to be filled months in advance, Hartnell said.

Man Succumbs To Gun Wounds

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Marion Groves, 56, died Thursday of wounds received in a shooting incident Sept. 15.

Police said Ted Perzanowski, 58, shot Groves and Charles Sellers, 38, during an argument at a water plant where they worked.

Perzanowski then turned the gun on himself and he and Sellers died a few hours after the incident.

Nixon Endorses Lukens Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Donald Lukens, R - Ohio, says President Nixon has endorsed his proposal to make air and water pollution control a goal of the 1970s.

Lukens said he had been assured by Nixon that the administration is working on a "bold, long - range program that will capture the imagination of the American people."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, introduced House legislation Thursday for major reforms in the present federal agricultural programs.

The legislation is aimed at reducing surplus production through massive land retirement which would take entire farms out of production instead of the current approach, which removes only parts of farms. At the same time, he said, the federal government's present programs of farm subsidies and price supports would be phased out over several years.

The legislation, co-sponsored by eight other Ohio Republicans, is based on suggestions by the Ohio Farm Bureau.

The bill offers assistance to low and marginal income farmers, including work training grants, special loans and other adjustment programs.

Brown said much acreage to be retired through purchase of production rights of whole farms by the government on a bid basis, with the cropland being turned over to other uses, would come from such marginal farms.

Other sponsors of the bill are

Union Soldier

FETTERMAN, W. Va. (AP) — Bailey Brown, killed May 22, 1861, was the first Union soldier to die in the Civil War. He fell in this Taylor County community.

Hint Agnew Should Cut Criticism

HONOLULU (AP) — Most Western Republican leaders attending a conference here say the voters want Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to keep firing away at antiwar demonstrators. But one GOP Governor thinks he should tone down his words.

Gov. David Cargo of New Mexico told a newsman some of the organizers of the Vietnam Moratorium Day are "a mess." But he added: "I'm not so sure they are all intellectual snobs. I'm not so sure they all don't have anything to offer. Young people have a lot to say. They have noble ideas."

Cargo and other party leaders were interviewed Thursday at a session of the Western States Republican Conference at which Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., strongly defended Agnew for calling the leaders of the demonstrations "impudent snobs."

Goldwater got his biggest ovation when he said of Agnew, "The vice president's crime, it seems, was to describe an effete corps of impudent snobs as 'an effete corps of impudent snobs.'"

"I couldn't agree more with Vice President Agnew," said Gladys O'Donnell of California, president of the National Federation of Republican Women. "I think he speaks out. I think he is right. He is his own man." However, Cargo remarked that "we've done a lot of talking about lowering voices," referring to a phrase used by President Nixon, and asked "Why not do it?"

Cincy Negro Judge Succumbs

CINCINNATI (AP) — A heart ailment has taken the life of the only Negro ever to sit on the Hamilton County Municipal Court Bench.

Judge William Lovelace, 69, died at Jewish Hospital here after being admitted Sunday. He had become ill over the weekend while attending a meeting of the board of trustees at Knoxville College in Tennessee and drove himself back here.

Gov. James Rhodes appointed Lovelace to the post in January of 1965 and then Lovelace was elected to a six-year term the following November. He sat on the bench as recently as last Wednesday.

OU Athens Group Studies Disputes

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A special committee has been formed in an effort to resolve differences which have developed between Ohio University and the Athens community.

OU President Claude R. Sowle said the committee, comprised of university and community representatives, will recommend a program to close a split that developed after recent arrests during narcotics investigations in the campus area.

Rhodes Hits Discrimination In Schools

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "There is discrimination in education in Ohio," Gov. James A. Rhodes asserted Thursday night in addressing the Ohio Catholic Education Association convention in Cleveland.

Rhodes said that education standards were not as high in areas where there was a high ratio of welfare recipients. "There is no psychological treatment or no treatment medically that can help these people except employment," he said, adding that the "lack of jobs comes from the lack of training and the lack of education."

Rhodes criticized the state board of education for having college-oriented secondary schools although "65 per cent of the youths refuse to go to college."

Much of Rhodes' speech was devoted to the work he has done for non-public education in Ohio. An OCEA spokesman said Rhodes asked to be the keynote speaker after accepting an invitation to be presented an award for his contribution to Catholic education.

The spokesman said that the OCEA cancelled a scheduled keynote speech by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in order to accommodate Rhodes.

The governor ignored Cleveland newsmen who sought to get statements on his announcement earlier Thursday that he would be a Republican primary candidate for U.S. Senate next year.

"I am here for other things but politics," Rhodes told newsmen, and also ignored questions regarding his statement Wednesday that attempted to refute allegations in a recent Life Magazine article about his personal conduct.

The article questioned Rhodes' commutation of the life sentence of mobster Thomas "Yonnie" Licavoli and alleged that Rhodes put campaign funds to personal use and paid some $100,000 in back income taxes and penalties over a 10-year period.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William R. Cornelius, Supt. of Schools of the Diocese of Steubenville called Rhodes "one of the greatest contributors to Catholic education in this country."

Rhodes told the convention delegates, "We have tried to provide equal opportunity for every boy and girl in this state regardless of his environment, his geography, his race, his color, or his religion."

He said, "As your governor we shall have provided more than $80 million in goods and services for non-public schools and let me say that this is just a start—I don't want anybody to believe this is the end. This is the start."

Rhodes said programs passed during his administration that have helped non-public schools include "The Fair Bus Bill" of 1965, that provides safe bus transportation to and from school. He placed its value to non-public schools during his term as over $30 million.

He said a bill passed this year to include the first state aid in the assistance of salaries for lay teachers will be worth over $36 million in its first two years.

U.S. Troop Level In Vietnam Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. strength in Vietnam, which grew from 900 men in 1960 to a peak of 543,400 last April has now dropped to its lowest level in 22 months.

American manpower as of Oct. 30, when the latest official count was made, totaled 495,200. The number had not been as low since Jan. 1968 when 492,500 Americans were in Vietnam.

The Nixon administration is aiming to get the troop level to 484,000 by mid-December.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Musical comedies, unlike wine, do not improve with age. The book of a 1933 Broadway hit, "Roberta," had the look of a period piece when presented in a 90-minute adaptation Thursday night on NBC as a Bob Hope special.

The program was made by putting cameras on a stage play with a theater audience, a procedure which does not help the TV viewer.

What stood up beautifully were those lovely Jerome Kern-Otto Harbach songs. With Michele Lee and John Davidson singing numbers like "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and "The Touch of Your Hand," there were some fine moments. And there was also a great fashion show somehow connected with the story of an American boy inheriting a Paris dress designer's salon and a house and having a stormy romance with his new partner, Miss Lee.

Hope played the part that made him a star—a wise-cracking band leader.

All sorts of updating was undertaken. Hope's lines included jokes about Jackie Onassis, Tiny Tim and marijuana. The hero was supposed to be a quarter-back on the Los Angeles Rams.

It was, in spite of its shortcomings, interesting to watch.

"Debbie Reynolds and the Sound of Children," the preceding NBC special, was a light musical romp and a pleasant if hardly memorable hour.

It teemed with cute children acting out a series of original songs based on the old rhyme starting "Monday's child is fair of face."

The kids swarmed over playgrounds, sang songs, fed pets. Debbie was a combination Pied Piper, field marshal and star-singing, dancing and troop-leading.

ABC has announced a major overhauling of its schedule starting Jan. 19. It will drop five shows, add four and relocate a number of others.

Canceled are "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "Music Scene," and "The New People"—all new shows—plus "Hollywood Palace" and "Dating Game."

It will move its Wednesday night movies to Monday nights and fill the two-hour period with variety hours starring Johnny Cash and Engelbert Humperdinck. Earlier on Wednesday it will have a new situation comedy, "The Nanny and the Professor."

"The Pat Paulsen Show" will start the Thursday night schedule and the "Survivors" will be moved to that night. "Love, American Style" will replace Jimmy Durante and the Lennon Sisters Friday nights and they will move to Saturday nights, following Lawrence Welk.

All the canceled shows have been at the bottom of the Nielsen rating lists.

Recommended weekend viewing: Saturday—"This Way to Sesame Street," NBC, 5-5:30 p.m. EST, preview of children's series starting Monday on educational stations; "Night Gallery," NBC 9-11, movie-for-TV, Rod Serling trilogy starring Joan Crawford, Roddy McDowell and Richard Kiley.

Sunday—"An Evening with Julie Andrews and Harry Belafonte," NBC, 9-10 p.m.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

This will be one of the most ideal weekends from a weather standpoint of the fall season so far.

Indian Summer weather will prevail with sunny skies along with afternoon temperatures from the 60s to the lower 70s on Saturday. The Sunday outlook calls for fair with little temperature change.

No rain is expected.

It was quite cold over much of the state during the night and readings in the upper 20s were reported in northwest and central Ohio.

A stubborn cloud cover kept temperatures early this morning from falling below the lower 40s in parts of northeast Ohio. Readings elsewhere mainly were in the 30s.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Clear and cold tonight. Lows from the mid to the upper 30s. Sunny and warmer Saturday.

NORTHWEST & CENTRAL OHIO — Clear and not as cold tonight. Lows in the mid to the upper 30s. Sunny and warmer Saturday. Highs in the mid to the upper 60s. Outlook Sunday: Fair with little change in temperatures.

SOUTHWEST & SOUTHEAST OHIO — Clear and not as cold tonight. Lows mostly in the upper 30s. Sunny and warm Saturday. Highs from the upper 60s to the lower 70s. Outlook Sunday: Fair with little change in temperatures.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average a little above normal Saturday through Wednesday. Highs will be in the lower 50s north and the middle to upper 50s south. Lows will be in the middle 30s. Warming over the weekend, a little cooler early next week, then warm again by midweek. Precipitation will average .1 inch or less melted, probably occurring as widely scattered showers about Sunday.

Pacific Northwest Feels Brunt Of Alaska Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A storm in the Gulf of Alaska continued throwing wind and rain into the Pacific Northwest today, but most of the nation basked in fair, dry and largely warmer than normal weather.

The rains in the West extended inland to the northern Rockies and were accompanied by strong winds along the northern Pacific Coast. A separate weather system sprinkled southeastern Idaho, central and southern California.

Rainy weather, diminished in scope and intensity, persisted in eastern Pennsylvania and New York State.

Elsewhere, it was Indian summer. Early morning temperatures were 20 to 30 degrees above normal between Montana and upper Michigan. Temperatures were moving up to the 70s as far north as southern Minnesota.

Mason Furniture

By far the most popular home decor is colonial American styling. Metaphor by Mersman adds to that acceptance. Your own good taste will be respected when you choose from this grand selection. The warm, natural maple woods beautifully finished are further enhanced with party-proof Formica "plank" tops.

If only I had been born with the ability to reason and all the wisdom great decisions require.
 Then I'd ask Daddy to teach me a prayer.
 And I'd ask Mommy to read me a Bible story.
 And, if nobody offered to take me, I'd walk myself

Mayor Of Russells Point Ousted For Misfeasance

RUSSELLS POINT, Ohio (AP) — "I hate to think what will happen here next Fourth of July" Mayor Lloyd Pickering said Thursday after a judge ordered his removal from office.

The order came from Probate Judge Luedell Bauer of Shelby County, who found Pickering guilty of misfeasance in office for allegedly dispersing a crowd of youths last July 5 by firing a shotgun which slightly wounded one person.

Pickering said he will take the case to the 3rd District Court of Appeals in Lima.

The shotgun incident occurred during a disturbance by beer-drinking youths who annually flock to this Indian Lake resort town on the Fourth of July weekend.

Pickering said that he alone with the use of the shotgun "cleared half of the town" while "great, big brave Sheriff Dewee Skidmore needed 61 deputies to clear the other half."

Pickering said, "It's not so much losing out here as mayor, but it's the type of people who put me out. Not one of them owns a stick of property in this town."

He said the charges were brought against him by resort business people "who slide in here in the spring and then out in the fall."

Pickering's attorney, Pat Allen of Lima, said he believes the decision will have a lot of effect on the mayors of small towns who from time to time must deal with "nuts" who come into the community.

In returning the decision, Judge Bauer said the mayor of the village is the chief conservator of peace and has all the powers conferred upon sheriffs to suppress disorders and keep the peace.

"Where in the discharge of official duty, a police officer fails to take the precaution or exercise that care with due regard for others . . . resulting in injuries, his conduct constitutes misfeasance," Judge Bauer ruled.

U.A.R. Troops Raid Israelis

Tel Aviv Says Damage Small

TEL AVIV (AP) — Egyptian ground troops made two raids across the Suez Canal today, striking at an Israeli patrol and an army convoy, the military command in Tel Aviv reported. It said five Israeli soldiers were wounded and one vehicle was damaged in the attack on the patrol north of El Qantara but that the raid on the convoy four hours earlier caused no Israeli casualties or damage.

An Egyptian military spokesman claimed an armored car and two tanks were destroyed in the first raid, in the El Shatt area across from Port Suez.

There was no immediate report from Cairo on the second attack.

The Egyptian announcement, reported by the official Middle East News Agency, said the Egyptian troops returned from the convoy strike without casualties. Israel claimed one wounded Egyptian soldier was captured.

An Israeli spokesman said artillery and mortar fire raged along the canal following the attacks.

Earlier today, the Israelis reported their jets smashed suspected Arab guerrilla mortar emplacements in Jordan south of the Sea of Galilee in the Beisan Valley, the Israelis said.

Israeli forces returned the fire, and Jordanian artillery responded.

During the cannon barrage, Israeli planes swooped across the Jordan River cease-fire line to hit the mortar positions, about three miles east of the river, and were over the targets about 15 minutes, the military command reported.

It said all planes returned safely.

Superman Popular Because He's Irrelevant?

By BENNET BOLTON
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — While religions worry about being relevant today to people's cares, an American folklore figure flitting about since 1938 keeps making it big—by his very irrelevancy.

Superman, ever waging his "never-ending battle for truth, justice and the American way," once had wartime chaplains convinced that the Man of Steel was becoming a substitute for religion.

"He was a code of ethics in four colors that you could roll up and stick in your pocket just before you hit the beachhead. He was right here with the troops as a kind of Bible."

So notes John M. Cadley, a current affairs writer, in a recent issue of the Catholic weekly magazine Ave Maria. He says the red-caped Kryptonian helped restore people's faith in their own power to triumph over "the evil that was everywhere around them" after he first appeared 31 years ago in the pages of "Action Comics."

But this is 1969. Times have changed and people have become confused. The costumed characters of the comic books have not.

Although Cadley does not go into it, even the art of comparatives has shifted. Superman is faster than a speeding bullet, snail's pace compared to a laser beam. He is more powerful than a locomotive, a toy compared to a Saturn rocket. He is able to leap tall buildings in a single bound, meaningless compared to scampering in moon dust. Indestructible? Unrealistic in nuclear ICBM terms.

"While once the superheroes were popular because they were so relevant to what was happening in the world," Cadley observes, "today they are popular precisely because they're so irrelevant."

Although total comic book sales have dropped from above 50 million a month, they still move at the rate of 30 million a month—Superman's alone account for 1.5 million of that—and their readers include college students and grownups.

What explains the great interest? Cadley finds that we Americans still like Superman and are still interested in what happens to him, only the interest is a different kind now.

"Concern might almost be a better word, like a father's concern for the son who's just gotten out of college and is convinced he can change the world. We know he's got to change and yet we hope he doesn't." Moving the analogy along to Superman, he says that "in him are preserved values and qualities that it would be oh so nice to have if only they worked, if only you could really live like that. But because Superman doesn't have to live in the real world he can live that way. We want him to."

Cadley is convinced that if Superman should ever start looking like Dustin Hoffman with a cape, the "S" on his massive chest would begin to mean "Superheroism," because comic book heroes "fall flat on their square-jawed faces" whenever they try to be relevant to the issues of the age.

"To give Superman a modern hangup like a conscience syndrome is like getting Little Orphan Annie pregnant: it may be possible but somehow it just doesn't fit the image," concludes Cadley.

Silver Bridge Suits Filed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seven new court suits seeking more than $4.1 million for seven surviving families of persons killed in the Dec. 15, 1967, Silver Bridge collapse on the Ohio River are now on file in U.S. District Court.

Columbus attorney John D. Holschuh filed the similar suits this week against the United States Steel Corp., J.E. Greiner Corp. and Easco Corp.

The latest suits brought to 10 the number filed in court asking a total of $5.37 million.

The bridge disaster between Kanawha, Ohio, and Ft. Pleasant, W. Va., claimed 46 lives.

Plaintiffs in the latest suits are John E. Halliday, Noralyn A. Head, Patricia K. Simons, BLK. Higley, Hazel Cremons, Robert E. Lee and Noel F. Moore.

Charge Railroad Caused Tieup

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo police have charged the Penn Central Railroad with blocking a rail crossing on the North Side for over an hour Wednesday evening, causing a massive traffic jam.

Officials of the railroad were ordered to appear in municipal court to answer the charges Nov. 10. They said failure of air brakes on the 149-car freight was responsible.

The railroad officials said that during the search for the broken air line, a disgruntled motorist apparently disconnected one of the train's cars, compounding the delay.

The Adult Reading World

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pick-away County Public Library offers a variety of books for reading pleasure. A list of suggested books for adult reading will be presented weekly for The Herald by the library staff.

Always popular are the how-to-do-it books: books which will give answers to questions on practical projects, home crafts, etc. Some recent books added to the useful arts collection are listed, together with very short descriptive notes.

"Quilting As A Hobby" by Dorothy Brightbill. Quilting, in the traditional sense, brings to mind the treasured quilt from grandmother's day. The Wedding Ring, the Turkey Track, the Star of Bethlehem are familiar names of quilt patterns. Here is a quilting book for young and seasoned sewers alike — an easy-to-follow, vividly illustrated handbook loaded with useful ideas. Besides the collection of patterns and instructions for making bed quilts and coverlets there are novelty items described which make wonderful stocking-stuffers at Christmas time. Also suggested are quilt fairs, competitions and quilting in groups.

There are two basic publications on auto repair, each has similarities but each, also, has dissimilarities, which are worth noting.

"Motor's Auto Repair Manual" (Motor Book Division of Hearst Magazines). In addition to information on trouble shooting and repair on systems in a wide range of models and years, this book includes a section on the repair of the Volkswagen, plus a section on foreign car tune up data.

"Chilton's Auto Repair Manual." Like the Motor's Manual, this volume has repair information for a wide range of makes and years, but in addition includes wiring and electrical details.

"Textbook of Basic Nursing" by Ella M. Thompson and Constance Murphy. A study text dealing with the fundamentals of nursing for the practical nurse. There are chapters on the growth and development of practical nursing; units on the family, the body nutrition; maternal and child care and conditions of illness. For the graduate practical nurse there are listings of career opportunities and the legal aspects of practical nursing.

"How To Make Clothes That Fit and Flatter" by Adele P. Margolis. Mrs. Margolis teaches dressmaking, tailoring and pattern-making in adult centers in Philadelphia and has served as the director of the Career Course sponsored by the Fashion Group of Philadelphia. In the introduction to her book, Mrs. Margolis states, "More handmade clothing looks that way because of poor fit than because of poor workmanship. If you know how and where a garment should fit, that's half the battle. If you know what to do about it when it doesn't, that's the other half." This step-by-step instruction book should help the woman who likes to sew to achieve the ideal in style and fit.

"Presents for Dad," by Ursula Keubnemann. All the items in this book are not easy to make, but they are simple enough for anyone who enjoys making things and has a little skill to copy. With the approach of the Christmas season there is time to consider a gift with love for dad, or brother, or uncle. And for mother, sister or aunt, too, for there is a "Presents for Mother," by the same author.

American Businessman's Son Slain By Brazilians

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The American businessman's son who was kidnaped and killed on a farm near Sao Paulo was already dead when his abductors demanded $12,500 ransom, Brazilian police say.

Authorities said Patrick Dolan, 18-year-old son of the vice president of Swift and Co. of Brazil, was kidnaped by two men while on his way to school last Thursday and was shot and buried on their farm a few miles west of the city.

Police kept the kidnaping secret in hopes of recovering the youth alive. But they found his body Wednesday and later announced the arrest of Jose Dias Rezende and his 25-year-old son, Jose Daniel Dias Rezende, an acquaintance of the victim. They were charged with the kidnap-slaying.

Plan Observance Of Veterans Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration has sent 100,000 educators and community leaders a detailed scenario, with appropriate pauses for band music, for Nov. 11 observances designed in part to counter antiwar protests planned two days later.

The Veterans Day packet signed by Administrator Donald E. Johnson includes complete speeches, program formats, statements for the newspapers and radio announcements.

Officers said one or both of the kidnapers picked up Dolan in a car as he waited for a bus to take him to the American School, where he was a senior. After killing him, police said, the Rezendes contacted his father, Richard J. Dolan, and demanded the $12,500 ransom.

Dolan, following instructions in notes and telephone calls, left the money in his car at a Sao Paulo cemetery. The kidnapers did not pick it up and later instructed him to put it in a garbage can near the city airport.

Dolan complied, and the kidnapers apparently retrieved the money from the garbage can. They asked Monday for a second payment of $12,500, but did not say where to leave it and made no further contact with the family.

Police arrested the younger Rezende Tuesday night. They said he confessed, told them where they could find the body, and implicated his father. Officers arrested the father late Wednesday.

The youth's body probably will be flown to Kansas City, Mo., a consulate spokesman said. He said the family has relatives in Kansas City and St. Louis.

New York Solon Claims Phone Rate Cut 'Deception'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman says a government-business decision to cut interstate long distance telephone rates could end up costing phone users more, not less.

Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., says he may try to block what he called an "outrageous deception" by the Federal Communications Commission and the giant American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

AT&T said Wednesday it had reached agreement with the FCC to cut its interstate phone rates by nearly $240 million starting early next year. At the same time, the FCC said it would allow the company to boost its profits.

Bingham charged in a Thursday speech to the House that ATT will use the FCC ruling to win approval of pending rate increases in 16 states and the District of Columbia to more than make up for the lowered interstate rates.

Requested rate increases for New York State alone would, if approved, bring in $175 million in added revenues, Bingham said. And, if the increases for local rates in the other states are okayed, it would increase the figure to at least $300 million, he said.

The FCC's authority is limited to interstate service. Local rates are governed by the individual states.

With the FCC ruling in its pocket, the congressman said, AT&T can now argue that the FCC has approved an increase in its profits, and state regulatory commissions can do no less.

AT&T contended in a series of informal talks leading to the FCC decision that a higher rate of return was needed to attract investor money needed to raise the billions of dollars the Bell system spends each year to expand its facilities.

Bingham asked the FCC to suspend the decision until it could be examined in detail in "full public hearings."

Circleville Youths Await Sentencing

David Knece, 19, and Donald Donaldson, 22, both of Circleville, await sentencing by Fayette County Common Pleas Judge Evelyn W. Coffman following the Grand Jury's verdict of guilty in cases of fraud.

Donaldson had been tried Monday and found guilty for his part in an incident of larceny by trick and selling checks obtained under false pretenses.

Knece, indicted by the September term grand jury, received four guilty and two not guilty verdicts Wednesday in the same incident.

Both Knece and Donaldson had received three signed checks from a Washington C. H. resident who believed the two had furnished considerable labor and materials in removing tree limbs and brush from her home. This was not the case, according to testimony.

The checks involved were for $475 and $900. The third attempt was for a check amounting to $1,505.

Fire Damages Brazilian Ship At Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Extent of fire damage to the Brazilian cargo ship Dalila, docked at the Lake Erie Port of Toledo, may not be known for several days, officials said Thursday after scores of firemen brought the flames under control.

Fumes in the hold, where the fire was confined, prevented an inspection of damage, firemen said.

There were no injuries in the fire, which raged for six hours and for a time threatened to sink the oceangoing vessel. The ship was listing 14 degrees at one point but later righted itself.

The fire still was smoldering today, but officials said the ship was out of danger. Flames did not spread to the superstructure or decks, they said.

Firemen from 10 units here and nearby Oregon also kept the flames from spreading to buildings on the dock 100 feet away and the Liberian ship Emerald, docked nearby.

The fire broke out while 200 tons of lumber was being unloaded. Ships Agent Percy Polard said the fire might have been started by a spark from a fork lift.

Officials said the flames fed on 400 tons of sisal, a hemp used for rope, and another 300 tons of hardwood in the hold.

Firemen finally brought the blaze under control by smothering it with foam shipped in from several northwestern Ohio points.

Columbus City Employees Strike Despite Warning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — City employees struck today despite a blunt warning that such action may cost them their jobs.

"Any man who walks off the job is through," Mayor M. E. Sosenbrenner said Thursday night members of Local 1632 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, defied union leader ship and voted to strike.

Union leaders had urged the 1,300 member local not to strike while negotiations continued on a new contract.

Pickets began appearing at the water and sanitation departments early today and additional workers were expected to join the walkout as the day progressed.

French Resistance Hero Intermediary For Nixon?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A world War II French resistance hero who was a close friend of the late Ho Chi Minh appears to be the secret intermediary who conveyed President Nixon's peace initiative to the North Vietnamese President in July.

U.S. officials indicate he is Jean Sainteny, a private citizen now but once Gen. Charles de Gaulle's minister of veterans affairs and a French government expert on Indochina, which includes Vietnam.

During World War II, Sainteny headed a French intelligence unit operating from Kunming in the south of China into Indochina. At that time he was serving through M-5, the British military intelligence system.

Last September it was Sainteny who represented France at the funeral services in Hanoi for Ho.

In his Vietnam policy speech last Monday, President Nixon said that in mid-July he became convinced it was necessary to make a major move to break the deadlock in the Paris talks.

"I spoke directly with an individual who had known Ho Chi Minh on a personal basis for 25 years," said the President. "Through him I sent a letter to Ho Chi Minh."

Nixon said he did this outside the usual diplomatic channels with the hope it might lead to constructive progress in bringing the war to an end.

While there was no official confirmation that Sainteny is the man Nixon turned to for relaying his message to Ho, officials indicate Sainteny was approached by the administration in late July.

The answer signed by Ho, which in effect rejected the peace bid, was received Aug. 30 only a few days before his death was reported.

Senate OKs Credit Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed without dissent a bill to protect consumers against arbitrary and erroneous credit reports.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief sponsor of the bill, hailed its passage Thursday as "the biggest consumer victory this year" in Congress.

The measure now goes to the House where sponsors of similar legislation said the subject would be considered in the Banking Committee later this year or early in 1970.

Proxmire said credit ratings now are maintained on 110 million Americans and that the bill would for the first time give individuals a federally guaranteed right to correct false information in their files.

The measure should "prevent consumers from being unjustly damaged because of inaccurate or arbitrary information," the senator said.

The Senate acted on the bill by voice vote after less than an hour's debate with only half a dozen members present.

During committee hearings on the bill last spring, senators heard witnesses charge erroneous credit reports had cost them jobs and ruined their careers.

'Herbert For Governor' Drums Beat In Columbus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At about the time Gov. James A. Rhodes released a statement Thursday announcing his candidacy for the U. S. Senate, Mayor James Brown of Crooksville was in Columbus lining up support for John Herbert for governor.

The mayor of the Perry County town is chairman of the Boost Herbert for Governor Committee and his efforts have the backing of the forces of the Ohio state treasurer.

Brown said the committee has a nucleus of about 25 persons but will soon be expanded into a statewide force.

Rhodes, it is known, would prefer to see Rep. Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati as the GOP gubernatorial nominee. That would eliminate a possible primary opponent.

Albert H. Sealy of Dayton, a tax lawyer, wants it known that he has not withdrawn from the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

He said he still is "very much a candidate" but is not as active as he was during the summer because of a lack of funds.

Sealy forces have established organizations in more than 50 counties.

Sealy said the uncertainty of Rep. Robert Taft's candidacy caused a cessation of funds. One of Sealy's chief Dayton backers also is a Taft fan.

Rep. George Mastics, the Cleveland legislator and self appointed watchdog of public utilities, has been hired by the United Auto Workers to challenge rate hikes sought by Ohio Bell, East Ohio Gas Co. and Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

Mastics, a lawyer, is a Republican. The UAW is not noted as a backer of Republicans or GOP causes.

Mastics said 90 per cent of information supplied to the Public Utilities Commission in rate hike cases comes from the utility companies. "It is easy to see why they get their way," Mastics said.

A bill by Mastics during the last session of the legislature would have created an office of public representative to appear before the PUCO during such hearings.

It was killed in committee.

Seek 2 Youths In Fatal Shooting Of Cab Driver

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police are seeking two youths in the fatal shooting of the driver of the cab they were riding in on the East Side.

Stanley L. Green, 62, was pronounced dead at Lakeside Hospital Thursday, about 15 minutes after he was shot three times in the back by one of his two teen-age passengers on East 120th Street near Beulah Avenue. He had been a driver for the Yellow Cab Co. for 37 years.

Police said the cab veered into a parked car after the driver was shot and the two passengers jumped from the cab and ran.

Homicide detectives said an empty, opened cashbox was found next to Green's body, which was slumped over the seat of the taxi.

New Slate Of Officers Selected By FHA Club

By GALE McNELLEY and SALLY HART

FHA is a local, state and national club that prepares girls for future homemaking.

Ethel Strawser is president of FHA. A senior, she lives with her mother, Mrs. Virginia Strawser, who is Chapter Mother of Circleville FHA.

Besides FHA, Ethel is active in DECA. During her junior year she was vice president and then president for the summer months. This year she is corresponding secretary for Senior DECA.

In her spare time Ethel enjoys cooking and reading. After graduation she plans to attend a secretarial college and then get married.

When asked what she planned to do for the club she replied "FHA can be strong and fun and with its members' help, I will make it stronger and more fun!"

Sixteen-year-old Jean Cupp is a junior and vice-president of FHA. She resides at Route 2 with her father, Lawrence Cupp.

Jean is also active in OARE, Ohio Youth Association for Retarded Children. The purpose of this club is to make young adults aware of mental retardation in the community.

Her hobbies include sewing and reading and after high school, she plans to attend business school.

Jean feels that FHA is improving and encourages other girls to join.

Roxanne Russell, a junior, is song leader of FHA. She resides at 359 E. Franklin St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tufts.

When asked how she planned to help the club she replied, "I hope to give FHA more unity."

Roxanne's future plans include a joint trucking business with her father.

News reporter for FHA this year is Linda Hutchinson, who lives with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson at 438 E. Ohio St.

Besides FHA Linda is very active in her church group where she is secretary of her class. She attends the First Church of Christ in Christian Union.

As news reporter, Linda reports club news to the school news staff and helps with public relations.

Linda enjoys collecting records, cooking and sewing and after high school, plans to get a job.

Diane Miller is another officer of the club. She resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller at 118 S. Washington St.

Diane has been in FHA for two years and now holds the office of secretary.

"The purpose of the club," Diane says, "is to help girls get along better with one another in school and community life. And of course, it is to prepare girls for future homemaking."

Diane attends cosmetology school on weekends. She hopes to complete the course about three months after graduation from high school.

Jonnie Thomas lives at 717 S. Court St. with her mother, Leona and one brother and sister.

Jonnie has been in FHA for two years and has held the office of treasurer both years. She is a senior this year and is in DECA.

Jonnie is also treasurer of Jr. DECA and recorder of District I.

Petite Sheila Clifton resides on Mulberry Road with her parents and two brothers.

Sheila states, "My job as parliamentarian is keeping order during meetings and being chairman of committees which make laws of the constitution."

About every three weeks, Sheila's family goes to Kentucky to visit relatives. She enjoys these weekend trips because she always meets new "kids."

As we, the people of the United States, carry on our daily routine this Nov. 11, let us strive to be a united people. Let us work and pray together for the day wars will end and our men can come home. Let us think of peace on this Veterans' Day.

Let us also stop for a minute to pay silent tribute to those who have worked, suffered and died for us. They have given their loyalty to liberty. Now let us give our respect to them.

And let us remember, there are so many times when we were grateful for dedicated men. Let us think of World War I, World War II, Korea and Vietnam, and let us give thanks for the protection and service we were given.

On this Nov. 11, stop to think of the past, the present and the future. Then give thanks for the protection the American people receive from our armed forces.

Students Air Thoughts On November

By JUDY BROCK and PENNY ARLEDGE

As winter draws closer to us every day, many students have different opinions about the season. November seems to be a new and exciting season for many CHS students.

Pam Crabtree: "November marks the end of marching season and it means I am one month closer to my long-awaited graduation."

Ty Ankrom: "November means the beginning of basketball practice and our first game. It also means the start of cold weather."

Connie Cook: "Thanksgiving vacation is in November, and Dave gets a leave to come home."

Meg Ebert: "November means another vacation."

Randy Halley: "To me it is the most exciting month because basketball starts. It also means that time is getting closer for college."

Cindy Barnhill: "November to me is another break for Thanksgiving and a month closer to graduation."

Debbie Spangler: "It means winter is coming and basketball games. Our play, 'Angel Strete,' is coming too."

Tom Bowers: "November means basketball and Turkey!"

Gary Dumm: "November means a nifreeze in the radiator."

Paul Cupp: "Wrestling season starts and there is a lot of turkey to be eaten."

Cindy Rihl: "Only one more month until a vacation for fun."

Dean Smallwood: "November means left over turkey sandwiches."

Denise Chandler: "I like November because there is only one more month until Christmas, which means that half of the year's is over."

Pat Davis: "November means that I have had Bill's ring for a year."

Dan Ogan: "November is cold fun!"

Jodi Steele: "In November basketball games start and I anxiously wait for our play to be produced."

Jim Mogan: "November means another month of fighting with Judy."

Hoodin Picked As Teacher Of The Week

RON HOODIN

By ALLEGRA ANDREWS

Ronald Hoodin, special education teacher, is spotlighted this week at CHS.

Hoodin attended Niles McKinley High School near Youngstown. In school he was very active in wrestling, hand ball and skiing, and won an honorable mention award in art.

Hoodin went into the army for three years after graduation where he was stationed in Europe. While in the army he took courses from the United States Armed Forces Institute and finished his undergraduate degree in Business Administration at Miami University. He is now taking a psychology course to help fulfill requirements on a masters program which he will complete this summer.

In college he was a very active member of Delta Sigma Pi, a professional fraternity. He was president of the pledge class and vice president of the active chapter.

He feels Circleville High School believes that each child is unique and that his growth pattern in any area is peculiar only to him. Therefore the school sets up a number of highly flexible programs and activities so that instead of a child having to conform to a rigid program, the system changes to meet the needs of the child.

When asked if CHS needs a special education program he replied, "Every school system has a very basic need for special education. About 10-15 per cent of the school age population is exceptional. Exceptionality is a statistical concept, however, and a person is exceptional relative to a situation."

CHS Extends Its 'Southern Hospitality'

By CAROL BINNS

I am a senior. I have moved from underclassman to the top. Now that I have achieved this status of being a great senior what feelings do I have? I live in three different worlds with each one racing to crowd the other two out.

First I have memories. It seems so long ago since my first football game, homecoming dance, first date, first kiss and first love. I face reality: the present. This gives me times of joy, sorrow and confusion. All too soon the present becomes the past and memories of once realities seem hard to believe. My look at the present soon slips into dreams of the future. I am not ending my times of joy and sadness. They are just about to begin. When my senior year ends I will have passed my times of toys, school rooms and classmates. I will just be starting into a world of new people, new customs and new places. My job of learning life will just begin.

I slip back from the future, try to forget the past and face the present and what each day brings. For now, I am a senior.

School Holds Open House

By GINNY GILLIS

October 28 "Open House" was held at Circleville High School. At 7:30 p.m. parents gathered in the auditorium where Principal Paul Sarchet outlined the night's program. After Mr. Dale Delong spoke on the school levy, parents were dismissed to begin their night of classroom experience. There were four periods, each 20 minutes in length, which Paul Sarchet announced by way of the public address system.

Teachers briefed parents on requirements and objectives of the course, and the grading system.

At the conclusion, Future Homemakers of America, under adviser Mrs. Betty Riskey, served punch, coffee, cookies and fresh fruit. Home Economic III and Senior Homemaking classes prepared the refreshments.

Student Aides Staff CHS Office

By PAM CRABTREE and RICK WITHERS

In the CHS principal's office this year there are five students assisting the office staff.

Patty Craig, a junior, resides with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Craig, Sr. at 300 Walnut Creek Pike. Patty enjoys working in the office and lists as some of her duties, answering the telephone, typing and helping students.

"Making out the absence cards" is the main duty of Cora Lee Henn, another junior student secretary. Cora Lee resides at 249 Nicholas Drive with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henn. Cora is enrolled in the business course.

Mary Arnold, another junior in the business course, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah C. Arnold and resides with them at 631 Elm Ave. When Mary was asked what she did in the office she replied, "I don't have to put up with study halls."

Sandy Rich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rich of 395 Sunnyview Drive, is one of the two senior office girls. "It gives me a lot of experience with the operation of offices," was Sandy's answer when asked her opinion of office practice. Some of her duties are typing for teachers, cleaning typewriters and other odd jobs.

"Debbie Shires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shires of 144 Pontious Lane, is the other senior student secretary. Some of her duties are typing for Mr. Owens, athletic secretary and typing tests for teachers. When asked her opinion of working in the office she replied, "I feel that I'll benefit from experience I have received after graduation."

CHS Memories In Retrospect

1942 — Jack Crawford shot at the wrong basket during a game with Washington C. H.

1942 — C. F. Zaenglein was director of the band.

1942 — CHS had a debate team.

1947 — Stodge Club donated a scoreboard to the school.

1948 — SOS club was organized, and teachers referred to them as the "Save Our Souls" club.

1948 — David "Red" Crawford received the Most Valuable Player Award in football.

1951 — Steve Brudzinski and E. R. Bennett coached the football team.

1952 — Cheerleaders' outfits were red-banded black skirts, red sweaters, white socks rolled down and saddle shoes. (The length of their skirts were a little longer than today!)

1958 — The one hundredth class was graduated.

1958 — Brent Bell was on the annual staff.

1958 — Jerry Leist escorted Homecoming Queen Carol Weiler, who became Miss Ohio in 1959.

1958 — Dick Gerhardt was junior tackle on the varsity team.

1960 — Dick Fisher was CHS baseball coach.

1961 — Jack Mader was in the Audio Visual Department.

1961 — "Harvey" was chosen as the senior class play and Martha Wiggins was the student director.

1963 — Tiger football team was SCOL champs under Coach Carl Benhase.

1963 — Senior SOS wore "hideous green socks" on Thursday.

Circleville Grad Tells Experiences

By CRAIG DRESBACH

Susan Demjen, a 1968 CHS graduate, now enrolled at Ohio State, spoke to Mrs. Janet Boggs' psychology classes last Friday on Inner-City Education.

Susan, one of 23 in an OSU pilot project, is spending the fall quarter as a teacher's aid in a Cleveland inner city school. She is assigned to a second grade of 38 pupils. Susan's duties are grading papers, tutoring, constructing bulletin boards and reading stories to children. She felt the children were very eager to learn, but even more in need of love.

A collection of fifty glass cats is Carol's main hobby. She also lists swimming and horseback riding as her likes.

When asked what she misses most from Hendersonville she replied, "My boyfriend, but he is coming to Circleville to visit me in November."

Basketball practice began Nov. 1. The first game is Nov. 21 at home with Westfall.

Tiger 'Pause'

By SHERYL BINNS, PATTY ARLEDGE and CHARLIE JACKSON

Did everyone notice that there were more seniors on the honor roll the first six weeks than there were juniors and sophomores together?

Circleville High School students have discovered there is a magician in their midst. Could he possibly be another Houdini?

Tonight is the last football game the seniors will be able to witness as students. Next year they will be known as ticket-paying alumni.

Jan Clifton definitely wears more rings on two fingers than anyone else in the CHS halls.

Debbie Moore is seriously thinking of journalism as a career, but with Debbie it comes natural. Her father has an article in the October issue of "American Rifleman."

How many juniors still have their own class rings?

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William O'Neil on their new son.

Is Sally Hart crying or is she wearing contact lenses?

Four of William Dunkle's speech students are sick of definitions for "happiness."

The girls in Mrs. Diane Wilson's phys. ed. classes are going to end up being stronger than any of the boys with all the exercising they have been doing.

How many of John Lawhorn's government students have their term papers started?

Randy Halley became a kissing bandit in a recent dream one of the seniors had.

Eighth grade SOS officers were installed on Oct. 20. They are: president, Stephanie Davis; vice-president, Rhonda Miller; recording secretary, Bobby Radcliffe; corresponding secretary, Becky Cockrell; treasurer, Cindy Bowers.

Eighth grade Hi-Y is making plans to sell book covers. 28 members of Hi-Y elected the following officers: president, Brian Barthelmas; vice-president, Danny Goeglein; secretary, John Ankrom; treasurer, Matt McGowan; chaplain, Jim Sprout; sergeant-at-arms, Tim Strawser.

Circleville Junior High School seventh and eighth grade football squad capped its fifth win against one loss last Thursday by upsetting a strong Groveport team, 8-6, in their last tilt of the year.

Freshman completed their undefeated season against Lancaster Stansbury, Saturday.

Basketball starts immediately after football at CJHS and the roundballers showed up in force Monday for their first day of practice.

Barrell Young is coaching the ninth grade fives this year while Dennis Stewart is the seventh and eighth grade mentor.

A new junior high science club, under adviser Kester McCain, is organizing along the pattern set by the senior high Nuclei Club.

Another new junior high club, the Drama Club, is directed by Boen Hallum. The club is planning two assembly programs for Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

First issue of the "Tiger Times," the CJHS newspaper, came off the presses Oct. 30 under the direction of Thomas Azball. The "Times" is made up from articles contributed by the eighth and ninth grade students. Co-editors of the first edition were June Brudzinski and Debbie Brian.

KEY CLUB

Key Club members Mark Frericks, Scott Withers, John Demjen, Pat Thomas, Jim Baker and Rick Sabine attended a division dinner meeting Oct. 29, at the Desert Inn in Columbus. Nov. 5 the club held a dinner meeting at the Pickaway Arms. Plans are now in progress for a student catalog to be published late this month. In the future the club is planning to sponsor a movie at the Cliftona.

FHA

FHA held a dinner meeting Nov. 5 at Gayla Spangler's house. On Nov. 8 they will sponsor a bake sale at Economy Savings and Loan. Linda Hutchinson, Pam White, Carla Garner, Diane Vickers, Linda Jacobs, Gayla Spangler and Brenda Stevenson were hostesses at the Back-to-School Night.

Veterans Honored On Special Day

OSU Works On Defense Against Wisconsin Aerials

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Top-ranked Ohio State runs into another passing threat when Wisconsin tries to end a 47-year football winless streak in Ohio Stadium.

The Badgers haven't won here since 1918, four years before Ohio Stadium was built. They did earn ties against Ohio State here in 1930 (0-0) and 1932 (7-7). The Ohio State secondary will be taxed again as the Buckeyes seek their 21st straight overall and 16th triumph in a row in the Big Ten. The Buckeyes are 6-0-0 this fall.

Sophomore Neil Graft's passing (81 of 162 for 900 yards and six touchdowns) and senior end

Mel Reddick's receiving (27 for 313 yards and two touchdowns) are big reasons the Badgers have ended a 24-game winless spell.

It's the second of three weeks in a row Ohio State, lone unbeaten team (4-0) remaining in the conference, faces a superior passer.

A week ago Northwestern sophomore Maurice Daigneau completed a school record 22 passes in a 35-6 loss to the Buckeyes. Next week Mike Phipps and his Purdue mates visit here.

The passing defense has worried Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes so much that he left his usual offensive job to work with the defense.

The old lefty from Denison even whipped a few passes himself at the Buckeye secondary in practice.

Wisconsin's ground game is formidable, too. The Badgers, who are averaging 335.8 total yards to the Buckeyes' 505.8, are led by sophomore fullback Alan

"A-Train" Thompson.

Thompson is 30 yards ahead of the pace of Alan Ameche when the Badger All-America established a Wisconsin rushing record of 946 yards. Thompson has 689 yards in the Badgers' 2-5 overall and 2-2 Big Ten start.

Ohio State quarterback Rex Kern is off the injured list again and needs 230 total yards Saturday to break John Borton's one-season Buckeye record of 1,512 yards in 1952.

Fullback Jim Otis could lag another line in the OSU record book. The Celina senior needs 114 yards to surpass Hopalong Cassidy's mark of 2,371 career rushing yards.

Tom Backhus, senior guard from Cincinnati hurt against Michigan State Oct. 11, has been ruled out another week. He is expected to be the only Buckeye missing Saturday.

Wisconsin reports its players are healthy, trying to halt a nine-game Ohio State winning streak in the series favoring the Buckeyes 27-7-4.

We will endeavor to make it of interest to all our readers, young and old alike.

Several weeks ago we received a letter commenting on the conduct of the Tigers and will begin our feature with this correspondence.

Mr. Steve Jones
News Editor
Circleville Herald

Dear Steve:

I would like to congratulate through you the conduct of the Circleville football team when it played at Miami Trace High School Oct. 10.

Good sportsmanship and conduct have seemed to dwindle in recent years in high school football, as you and I both know from many years of news coverage.

I was particularly pleased with the excellent, hard play of the Tigers, but more importantly the cleanliness of the game by both squads. It showed true desire and efficiency on the parts of both teams, playing the game the way it was meant to be played.

Fortunately, the Miami Trace cameraman had some film left at the end of the game, and as is his practice, he continues to film "after-game-activities" to use up the roll. I saw what happened on the field following the game, but returned later to the school to see it again on film.

Circleville's players raced across the field following the game to see Miami Trace quarterback Jeff Blake, who was shaken up on an out-of-bounds play in the fourth quarter. Blake had rolled out around left end, was knocked out of bounds and rolled into the Circleville bench. The blow knocked him out.

The Tigers, first of all, asked about his condition, then congratulated him for playing a good game. I'm particularly glad that some teams in the SCOL still maintain high standards.

Sincerely yours,

Predictable Win Predicted At Gardenia Stake Saturday

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The winner of Saturday's Gardenia Stakes looks predictable on past form. But 2-year-old fillies, like any other thoroughbred, don't always follow past form.

Predictable, from Wheatley Stable, is the early favorite for the Gardenia but she should get plenty of opposition, with a field of 11 juvenile misses expected for 1-16-mile test.

If all 11 start, the Gardenia will have a record gross value of $200,444, with a record $129,267 to the winner.

Cage Game May Still Not Be Over

CHICAGO (AP) — If you want to get technical, the Chicago Bulls-Atlanta Hawks National Basketball Association game played Thursday night is still going on Friday.

The game-ending buzzer apparently never sounded with the teams on the floor, and therein lies one of the wildest windups in pro basketball seen in Chicago Stadium. The 9,087 fans still probably don't know what went on. And they aren't alone.

Atlanta, Western Division leader, was awarded a 124-122 victory which Bulls General Manager Pat Williams said he would protest to Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

The Hawks wiped out a 17-point deficit in the last nine minutes with Lou Hudson hitting the tying basket for 122-122 in the final 15 seconds and sinking two free throws for 124-122 in the last five seconds.

The Bulls took the ball out of bounds and with one second showing on the clock, Clem Haskins took a shot. The Bulls' Tom Boerwinkle jumped into the air and tapped the ball through the hoop.

Referee Bob Rakel said he had heard the buzzer as the shot was in flight and, since another player touched it after the buzzer sounded, the basket did not count.

In another big race Saturday, a field of eight is shaping up for the $50,000-added, 1-16-mile Roamer Handicap at Aqueduct.

Predictable earned her favorite's role in the Gardenia with an impressive four-length victory in the Selma at Laurel.

Entries to oppose her are Har-Bar Ranch's Fast Attack, Greenacres Farm's Sunny Sol, James Cox Brady's Meritus, Walter M. Jefford Jr.'s Zamora, C.V. Whitney's Hail Hall, Louis Toriano's Noseemole's, Stephen A. Calder's Office Queen, Mrs. Russell L. Reineman's Sweet Mist, Morris Stolz's Daring Step and Hayman and Fuentes' Dixie Wind.

Mrs. Henry Obre's North Flight, second to Hawaii in the Man O'War Stakes at Belmont Park, gets highweight of 125 pounds for the Roamer. His stiffest opposition is expected to come from Elmendorf's Oil Power, 121, winner of the Hawthorne Derby and Lawrence Realization, and Meadow Stable's Hydrologist, 120, the Discovery Handicap winner.

Other probabilities are Neil Hellman's Gleaming Light, 116; Raoul Cano's Guadamar, 116, who will be making his U.S. debut after racing in Mexico; Jack Dreyfus Jr.'s Handsome Kid, 112; Leo Fink's Say Not So, 112, and Sara Hall's Mongolia, 107.

Pipers And Colonels Win In ABA Eastern Division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Pittsburgh Pipers tapered off in the last quarter while the Kentucky Colonels turned it on but both won Thursday night and continued to chase the Indiana Pacers in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

The Pipers, led by John Brisker's 33 points, beat Miami 133-127 despite being outscored by the Floridians 36-31 in the final period. The Colonels used a balanced attack and a 41-point barrage in the last quarter to crush the Denver Rockets 145-119.

Pittsburgh remained 1½ games behind the idle Pacers while Kentucky was a game behind Indiana. Pittsburgh has a slight edge in the all-important percentage column, however.

In the National Basketball Association, Atlanta nipped Chicago 124-122 and San Francisco buried Cincinnati 130-109.

The Pipers trailed 96-95 at the end of the third period but then Stew Johnson tapped in a basket to put the Pipers ahead to stay. The victory, their fourth straight, boosted the Pipers' record to 5-2.

Denver led 66-65 at halftime but the Colonels, sparked by George Tinsley and Wayne Chapman, a pair of substitutes, piled up 79 points in the second half. A balanced Colonel attack saw seven men in double figures. Louis' Dampier led the Kentucky effort with 26 points but the Rockets' Larry Jones was the game's high scorer with 29. Kentucky is now 7-3.

White Resigns Post On Race Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — James F. White, veteran member of the Ohio Racing Commission who failed to attend a meeting of the group for almost two years, resigned Thursday.

White, citing business pressures for his resignation, had been paid $2,164.82 since January 1968 without attending a single meeting during that period.

Minutes of commission meetings, usually held monthly, show that the Toledo Republican last attended a meeting Oct. 18, 1967.

White attributed his absences to a series of private, personal problems.

He said he contributed his commission salary to a county boys club and crippled children's group.

"Frankly, I feel a little ashamed of myself," White said Thursday. "There haven't been any shenanigans."

White said that among personal affairs that interfered with meeting attendance was the death of his mother in April 1968 and the illness of his father Hugh White, a former Columbus auto dealer.

In addition, managers of auto agencies owned by the White firm in Toledo and Dayton have died in the past two years, he said.

Commission records indicate White, a member since 1959, attended meetings regularly until 1967.

The racing commission is a five-member panel which oversees, thoroughbred, quarter horse and harness racing tracks where there is parimutuel wagering.

Members of the commission are appointed by the governor and paid $50 per meeting.

Commission Chairman Charles Schwenker said there has been no action to insist that White attend meetings.

"I've been hoping that Mr. White would get his affairs in order and come to these meetings," Schwenker said. "But we're not the appointing authority."

Missouri Must Stop Owens, Oklahoma Sooners

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I'm never seen anyone like him. He's the best I've seen."

The speaker was Missouri Coach Dan Devine and the subject was Steve Owens, Oklahoma's slashing tailback.

And, there's a reason why the coach of the No. 9-ranked Tigers was cringing a little when he spoke of the Sooners' 6-foot-2, 215-pound one-man battering ram.

Missouri has to stop Owens—something that no other team has managed this year—and the No. 20 Sooners at Columbia Saturday to remain in serious contention for the Big Eight championship and a trip to the Orange Bowl.

The Tigers are tied with surprising Kansas State and Nebraska, all with 3-1 marks, for first place while Oklahoma is only a half-game off the pace at 2-1.

"I would hope we could stop Owens," said Devine. "Kansas State did a few times. We'll go with what we have and just hope we can stop him."

But the odds are against it. Owens, who ripped Missouri for 176 yards in a 28-14 victory last year, warmed up for this week's game by carrying the ball 53 times, one shy of the major college record, for a league record 248 yards and four touchdowns in a 37-14 coast past Iowa State last week.

And, the Tigers aren't blessed with an abundance of talent to stop him. Missouri's defense was far from adequate in a 41-38 squeaker over K-State last week, yielding a whopping 394 yards to passer Lynn Dickey.

Missouri, however, has a fine runner of its own—Joe Moore, who ranks third nationally with 184 rushes for 904 yards in seven games—and a dandy quarterback in Terry McMillan.

Kansas State and Nebraska, tied with Oklahoma as the No. 20 team, meanwhile, shouldn't have much trouble holding on to their share of first. The Wildcats, 5-2 over-all, travel to Oklahoma State, 1-2 and 3-3, while Nebraska, 5-2 over-all, plays host to Iowa State, 1-3 and 3-4.

In other games, it's Baylor at No. 2 Texas, South Carolina at No. 3 Tennessee, No. 4 Arkansas at Rice, Washington State at No. 6 Southern California, and No. 8 Notre Dame at Pittsburgh.

Games matching teams in the second 10 are Michigan State at No. 10 Purdue, Mississippi State at No. 11 Auburn, Alabama at No. 12 Louisiana State at night, No. 16 Georgia vs. No. 13 Florida at Jacksonville, Fla., No. 14 Stanford at Washington, U.T. Chattanooga at No. 17 Mississippi, No. 18 Michigan at Illinois and Utah State at No. 19 Air Force.

No. 5 Penn State and No. 7

UCLA are idle this week. Navy, 1-6 and still reeling from last week's 47-0 trouncing by Notre Dame, travels to Miami, Fla., in tonight's only major college action.

Texas and Arkansas, each 6-0, face little threat to their leadership in the Southwest Conference. The Razorbacks, who have rolled up 226 points while yielding only 40, face a team that has managed only one victory in six games, while Texas' crunching running backs should pulverize winless Baylor.

Sutern California, unbeaten in six games and leading the Pacific-8 with a 3-0 mark, is an overwhelming favorite against Washington State, 1-6, as is Notre Dame, 5-1-1, against Pittsburgh, 3-4.

Forecaster Sees Cleveland Brown Loss To Vikings

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The roof really caved in last Sunday, trapping the Dallas Cowboys' St. Louis Cardinals, Oakland Raiders and the old Hand picker in the wreckage.

After a 6-7 week it takes a lot of heart to try again, even if a 64-24-3 season record does help. But the season is only half over and, at least, the Los Angeles Rams haven't let us down yet.

Let's try again with all games scheduled for Sunday in both the National Football League and the American Football League.

NFL

Minnesota 27, Cleveland 17 — When Carl Eller, Alan Page and Co. run up against Dick Schafrath and Friends, somebody is going to get hurt. If Bill Nelsen gets through another week without getting his shirt dirty he should go into the Hall of Fame. Joe Kapp and Fred Cox team up while defense holds the fort.

Los Angeles 31, San Francisco 21 — The 49ers almost made George Allen turn grey in first

Bengals Set For Houston; All Feel Fine

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals appear to be in better physical shape for their game with Houston Sunday than they have been since the first day of the season.

Greg Cok, who has been suffering from an injured muscle in his throwing arm, will be starting at quarterback again.

Tight end Bruce Coslet, who broke his knee cap Sept. 28 against Kansas City — the same game Cook was hurt — is ready to play and will be activated for the game. Defensive linemen Rovee Berry and Bill Staley will swing back into action after missing the Oakland game.

Wide receiver Jack Gehrk was waived and placed on the taxi squad to allow Coslet to return.

"We're encouraged and we think he is too," coach Paul Brown said about Cook and his performances in practices this week.

The Oilers are 3-0 at the Astrodome and are coming off a 24-0 whitewash administered by Boston last Sunday.

Houston stands third in the American Football League in defense behind only Kansas City and Oakland and "This in itself is indicative that they're always strong defensively," Brown said.

The Bengals evened their record at 4-4 with a 31-17 upset victory over Oakland.

Fresh Yankee Sets U.N. Trot Effort

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Fresh Yankee is feeling her oats these days and taking no sassa from any male trotters.

The 6-year-old Canadian mare goes after her ninth straight victory in the $50,000 United Nations Trot at Yonkers Raceway tonight against the same field she whipped in the $50,000 Gotham Trot a week ago.

St. Louis Blues Top Detroit, 5-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
St. Louis' newfound power play continues to have its National Hockey League foes singing the blues.

The West Division leaders, next-to-last in the league last season in power play goals, scored three times while Detroit was short-handed Thursday night in snapping the Red Wings' four-game victory streak 5-2.

That gave the Blues 16 power play goals in just 12 games—best in the league.

Montreal sidetracked the Philadelphia Flyers 41 in the night's only other NHL match.

game when Rams had to come from way back to win. Roman Gabriel on the beam while John Brodie has been having arm trouble but is due back. Always a war.

New York 24, St. Louis 20 — A hunch upset on the grounds that Fran Tarkenton is overdue to start hitting and the Saints did score 51 points on the Cardinal defense last week. But Giant offensive line must keep Cards off Francis' neck.

Baltimore 24, Green Bay 21 — If Terry Hanratty can score 34 points on Packers, why not John Unitas? Revamped Colt defense did a job on Washington but gets big test in Packers' revived attack.

Dallas 31, New Orleans 17 — This was to have been the year for the Cowboys at long last but something went wrong at Cleveland. They can't take Saints lightly after last week's 51-point spree and close 21-17 early game won by Cowboys in last quarter on a big day by Calvin Hill.

Chicago 14, Pittsburgh 10 — Bears are favored but why with 0-7 record? Wrigley Field natives getting unruly and that Bear defense can make life miserable for Hanratty. Gale Sayers building up steam for a big blowoff.

Washington 24, Philadelphia 17 — Eagle defense full of holes and Sonny Jurgensen will take full advantage of it. Redskins pass defense will clamp down on Norm Snead but Tom Woodeschick may run for 100.

Detroit 20, Atlanta 14 — In-and-out Lions never have lost to Falcons and Tiger Stadium is no place to break the habit. Lions a shade better on offense and tougher on defense with strong pass rush.

AFL
Oakland 30, Denver 14 — It must have been a tough week for Raiders after that humiliation in Cincinnati. Al Davis will cut off the meal money if they blow another. Broncos hurting without Floyd Little.

Kansas City 27, San Diego 17 — Chiefs lead league in four statistical categories and hold half game edge in West. Chargers seem to have run out of gas and have been hard hit by injuries although some may be back.

New York 30, Buffalo 17 — Bills always are tough for Jets who had to come on stronger for 33-19 opening day win at Buffalo. Loss of Georges Stames at safety blow to Buffalo and Joe Namath might just pick on that spot.

Miami 21, Boston 17 — Dolphins almost upset Jets last week while Pats were shutting out Houston. Miami won a Sept. 6 exhibition, 13-0, and should do it again.

Houston 21, Cincinnati 20 — Oilers extra tough in that Astrodome unless they lost it all in Boston. Greg Cook did excellent job against Raiders but nobody beats Houston in the Dome.

Professional Hockey May Start Raids

BALTIMORE (AP) — Will professional hockey go the way of football and basketball, and try to provide a rival for the established league?

The president of the American Hockey League's Baltimore Clippers says there has been talk along those lines, using player raids on the National Hockey League as a springboard to set up operations.

Farm Agent Dies In Accident

Fayette County resident and area farm management Extension agent, Carl R. Blue, 36, died of injuries received when he was pulled into a corn picker Wednesday evening.

Blue had gone alone to a field near his farm home to pick corn about 3 p.m. Wednesday. At 3 p.m. his wife went into the field to find him. According to the sheriff's report, Mr. Blue had been dead since about 5:30 p.m. Both arms and legs had been caught in the machine when he apparently attempted to clear the snapping rolls.

A five-year resident of the area, he was born and raised in Mt. Vernon where his parents, Carl Clifford and Jennie Blue still reside.

He was a veteran of the Korean conflict and newly-elected president of the Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, Marilyn and three daughters.

Services will be 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Grace United Methodist Church, where he was a member. Burial will be 1 p.m. Monday in Mount View Cemetery, Mt. Vernon.

Friends may call at the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, Washington C. H., beginning 2 p.m. Friday until time of services.

centive payments and cutting of costs, which means widespread firing of surplus labor. Despite good results, there is evidence of trouble in the obvious clashes with party doctrine.

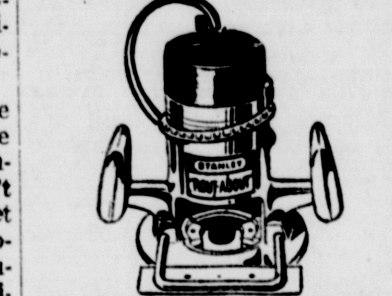

Recently Mikhail Suslov, a hard-liner in the Politburo, growled in an article in the party journal Kommunist that reforms are permissible only within a strict framework of central planning. The suggestion is that there is a sharp division of opinion on how far economic reform can go.

The party is trying to increase local initiative and at the same time retain unquestioned central control. The two aims don't mesh: Almost two million Soviet planners at ministry and factory levels have stakes in the bureaucratic system. These inevitably get in the way of reform.

The dilemma thus posed can cause big headaches. To deal with them effectively, the Soviet leadership probably will want to create an atmosphere of security from the sort of international crisis that can inhibit any experimentation. Thus, the tough talk to Washington could be viewed in the light of jockeying for position at a bargaining table.

Europe including European Russia forms about one-fourteenth of the land surface on the globe.

GOP Members Want To Impeach Justice Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A number of Republican House members are considering bringing impeachment proceedings against Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., said today.

Ford, leader of his party in the House, said no decision has yet been reached whether to offer an impeachment resolution. "It would be premature," Ford said, replying to questions relayed through his office.

"At this stage it is a preliminary staff operation . . . We are reviewing all the facts in the case."

A spokesman for Douglas said he would have no comment at all.

Ford said that, so far as he is concerned, the decision should not depend on whether the Senate confirms or rejects President Nixon's nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

But he added that if Haynsworth is rejected on ethical standards, "then the same standards should be applied to all members of the Supreme Court."

Douglas has been under fire because of his service, which he ended this year, as a salaried officer of the Parvin Foundation of Los Angeles, which received some funds from gambling interests.

Ford said recent additional disclosures about the Foundation and businesses associated with it inspired the new Republican effort.

A Republican Congress member who has been a consistent critic of Douglas said, however, it appears to him the issue appears to be "if Haynsworth is not confirmed, we'll go after Douglas."

This member, who would not be quoted by name, said he had not been consulted about the pending move, but that it appears Ford is a prime mover in it.

Much of the recent criticism of Douglas relates to his serving as a salaried officer of the Parvin foundation of Los Angeles, which received some funds from gambling interests. Douglas severed that connection earlier this year.

Under the Constitution, impeachment proceedings against federal officers, including judges, must begin in the House. If the House, acting as a sort of grand jury, votes an impeachment resolution, the accused official is tried by the Senate.
